SCALDED ONE MAN TO DEATH.

Explosion of a Boiler on the Steamer St. Paul.

HOT STEAM CAUGHT FIVE MEN.

OLIVER THOMPSON DIED AFTER REACHING ST. LOUIS.

The Boat Was En Route to St. Paul With a Big Load of Passengers When a Boiler Flue Collapsed.

DEAD.

Oliver Thompson, sailorman, 23 years old, of Valley Park, Mo.

INJURED.

Joe Harris, colored, fireman, aged 35; scalded about head, neck and arms.

Sam Porter, colored, fireman, aged 38; head and legs terribly scalded.

Jack Mack, deck hand; severely scalded about the body.

Melvin Johnson, colored, head fireman; face and shoulders scalded.

There was a terrific boiler explosion Tuesday night on the steamer St. Paul, one half mile below Elsah, Ill.

The boat was crowded with passagers and for awhile choas reigned. That a serious panic was averted is due to Capt. William Burke, who kept a cool head throughout the excitement, and allayed every fear that the boat was in danger.

At the time a dance was in progress in the main cabin.

After regaining their composure the passengers joined in the work of relief. Nearly all on board were St. Louis people.

The accident was caused by a collapse of the boiler flue. The steam pressure forced off the manhead, and instantly the scalding water shot forth.

Oliver H. Thompson, a sailorman and Jack Mack, a deck hand, were asleep on the lower deck. Thompson was lying within a few feet of the boilers.

Mellville Johnson, the head fireman and his two assistants, Joe Harris and Sam Porter, were "firing up."

The explosion came without warning. The noise of the hissing steam mingled with the cries of the victims.

Capt. Burke was on the scene in a few seconds. He was met by a volume of steam which was escaping from the boiler.

Thompson was stretched on the floor, unconscious. The others, half dazed and screaming with pain were running about on the deck.

The bow of the vessel was turned to shore and soon she was safely moored at Jersey landing. Messengers were despatched to Jerseyville, Ill., for physicians.

Meanwhile the passengers had rendered subbstantial aid to the injured.

Mack and Johnson remained on the boat while Thompson, Harris and Porter were transferred to St. Louis on a raft boat, as there was no place in Elsah where they could be cared for.

They arrived here at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning, and were immediately sent to the City Hospital. Thompson died within 15 minutes after being received there.

Porter and Harris are in a critical condition, though Dr. Nietert sayt they have a chance for recovery.

The steamer St. Paul belongs to the Diamond Joe line. She left St. Louis wharf for St. Paul and intermediate points at 4 p. m. Tuesday, carrying in addition to the passengers a good load of general merchandise.

"It was something I don't wan't to go through again," said Porter in describing the accident to the Post-Dispatch. "For minutes, I guess it was, I didn't know what had happened. Johnson, Joe Harris and I were shoveling in coal, and the sudden burst of steam blinded us.. If it hadn't been for Johnson I might have run into the river. My whole body seemed burning, and when I threw a sack over my arms, the flesh peeled off. Above I could hear them calling out 'explosion!' and then they came out on the second deck to see what was the matter.

"Poor Thompson, he was on the deck and couldn't move. I guess it was about 10 minutes before help came. But I can't kick much because the other boys got burnt worse than I did. I was mighty glad to get out of that hole alive, and I don't wan't to get near a boiler explosion any more."

General Manager Isaac P. Lusk of the Diamond Jo Line stated to the Post-Dispatch that the passengers on the St. Paul would continue their journey by rail from Elsah. A tow boat was dispatched from St. Louis Tuesday night to bring the St. Paul back to St. Louis. The St. Paul is expected to be here at 4 p. m. Wednesday.

"SCONOHIN" MALONEY DYING

Once the Companion of California's Bonanza Kings; Now a Pauper in New York.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 28.—"Sconohin" Maloney, the friend of all the bonanza kings of California and the companion of the leading actors of his day, is dying in this city penniless.

He was christened James J. Maloney in County Clare, Ireland, but he was educated in New York. He was later a famous character on the Pacific Coast, and as a politician and stump speaker attracted so much attention that he was brought East campaigning during the first Harrison campaign, making a tour of this State.

For the last few years he has been neglected and unfortunate in this city, and now, in poverty, is a patient at the Post Graduate Hospital on Second avenue.

In his palmy days Maloney was connected with the law department of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and Gov. Leland Stanford was his friend. He was also intimate with Mackay, Fair, Flood and Hearst.

Being a fine Shakspearian scholar Maloney became acquainted with the elder Salvini, Booth, Barrett, McCulloch, O'Neill and other noted actors.

ARGUMENTS IN CALLAWAY CASE.

Lawyers Talking for and Against the Prisoner.

JUDGE TALTY'S CHARGE TO JURY

SPECIFIC INSTRUCTIONS AS TO INSANITY.

Legal Speeches to Close at 5 O'Clock, When the Case Will Be Given to the Jury for a Verdict.

The end of the Callaway wife-murder case is at hand. Wednesday morning Judge Talty read his instructions to the jury and then the arguments commenced.

In his charge the Judge had this to say on the question of insanity:

Wherefore, The Court instructs you that if you believe and find from the evidence that the defendant did the killing in the manner charged in the indictment, but that at the time he was so perverted and deranged in one or more of his mental or moral faculties as to be incapable of understanding at the moment he killed Anna P. Callaway that such killing was wrong, and that he, the defendant, was incapable of understanding that this act of killing was a violation of the laws of God and society, if you find that he was so insane, you should find him not guilty.

In many respects the trial is one the most remarkable ever tried in the criminal courts of St. Louis. The prosecution presented a strong case. The defense was lamentably weak because there was no defense to make. The counsel appointed by the court to defend Frank P. Callaway worked hard but were handicapped because they had nothing to build a defense upon. At first it was decided to make emotional insanity the plea. This was abandoned early and an attempt was made to justify the killing because of a wife's alleged infidelity. This failed and again resort was made to emotional insanity.

Throughout the trial Callaway listened attentively to the evidence. As a rule he was calm and occasionally a smile lightened his features. At times when damaging evidence was brought out an expression of terror came to his face.

After Judge Tulty read his instructions Wednesday it was agreed that counsel should each have three hours for argument. Mr. Krone, for the State, began at 10 o'clock and spoke for an hour. He was followed by Mr. Cunningham for the defense. Mr. Maurer will close for the defense and Circuit Attorney Eggers will make the final plea to the jury.

The arguments will continue until 5 o'clock. It is the general opinion of those who have followed the case that the jury will quickly return a verdict.

Every available inch of space in the big courtroom was occupied Wednesday morning. An hour before the Judge ascended the bench the spectators began to arrive. By 9 o'clock every seat was occupied. Extra chairs were placed inside the bar. The aisles were so crowded that egress and ingress was blocked. Men stood up in the windows at the rear of the courtroom and craned their necks and strained their ears to hear the words of the counsel.

The witnesses for the State, who have been in the witness room during the trial, were in the courtroom Wednesday and listened to the arguments. The audience was composed largely of women and many of them were handsomely attired.

DEATH THE CURE PRESCRIBED,

Finding That His Bride Had Inherited Alcoholism, the Sailor Killed Her and Himself.

VICTORIA, British Columbia, June 28.—Report comes from Hong Kong that May 29 Andrew Marks, recently retired from the flagship Olympia, at Manila, shot his bride of but six days and then killed himself. The unfortunate girl-wife had been Marie Terrade, a French-Egyptian, and the daughter of Crille Jolicarton Terrade, a prominent scientist of Bone, Algeria. The girl had inherited alcoholism. She met Marks in Manila. Knowing her failing she went to Hong Kong, where Marks followed her, overcoming her objections and marrying her at St. Louis Cathedral May 22. The glass of wine at the wedding dinner was the beginning of the end. The bride finally assured her husband that drinking was a disease with her, for which there was no cure.

"O, yes, there is," he is said to have replied, "and you will find it out."

Six days after the wedding, Marks, returning home, found his bride inebriated, and shot her dead.

WOMAN ON A WONDROUS TRIP.

Mrs. Stevens of Philadelphia Surpasses All Records in Crossing Siberia by Eleven Days.

VICTORIA, B. C., June 28.—Among the passengers by the Empress of Japan is Mrs. M. M. Stevens, wife of Mechanical Manager Stevens of the Baldwin Locomotive Works of Philadelphia. She, with her husband, recently crossed Siberia, from St. Petersburg to Vladivostok, a journey of 9877 versts, in 42 days, no one heretofore having approached this record by 11 days.

The urgency arose through Mr. Stevens being required to meet 70 Baldwin locomotives for the new road on their arrival at Vladivostok. Every means of travel was adopted, special train and steamer, work trains, springless peasant carts, the old taraatass, horses and rafts. Mrs. Stevens says there is little likelihood of the railway being completed for several years, and that then it will be a patchwork of rail and water stretches, instead of a through rail line.

HIT "GRANDPA" WITH BALL BAT.

August F. Herwig Was Knocked Unconscious

BY A TWELVE-YEAR-OLD BOY.

LITTLE JABEZ ARRESTED AND THEN RELEASED.

Herwig, a Well-Known Musician, Was Having a Controversy With His Daughter When Jabez Interfered.

August F. Herwig of 4642 West Morgan street was struck on the head Tuesday afternoon with a baseball bat in the hands of his 12-year-old grandson, Jabez. He fell to the floor, where he lay insensible for several minutes, and then was removed to the Mayfield Sanitarium.

The assault was the outcome of a quarrel between the old man and his daughter Thalka, aged 22.

Herwig, it is said, made some remark which the girl resented, and then he attempted to put her out of the house. She refused to go and the old man proceeded to use force.

It is said he grabbed her by the arm and as he was about to open the door Jabez appeared.

Herwig did not see the boy, who assaulted him from behind. Two blows were struck, and not until he recovered consciousness did the old man learn who had committed the assault.

Herwig is 68 years old and prominent as a musician.

He was removed to the Mayfield Sanitarium, Taylor avenue and Morgan street. An examination showed he had sustained a painful contusion of the skull. Blood flowed profusely from a scalp wound.

Soon afterwards Jabez was arrested and locked up at the Sixth District Station. He passed the night there and was released Wednesday morning at the request of his grandfather.

The old man left the sanatarium Wednesday and was nursing his wound at the house when a reporter called. Miss Thaeka was not at home.

"We had a little trouble here yesterday," said Herwig to the Post-Dispatch, "and the boy, whose cradle I rocked, turned against me.

"I remonstrated with my daughter about a certain matter and she answered in a disrespectful way. She told me that if I wanted her to leave the house she would do so, and that so angered me that I pushed her out the door.

"Then it was that Jabez crept upon me unawares. I would have prosecuted him, but for his age and the pleading of his mother."

Jabez said: "I struck grandpa because he was mean to my aunt. I'm sorry if I hurt him badly, because I didn't mean to. He and aunty fuss some, and I don't like to hear grandpa say mean things to her.

"I had the bat playing ball on the lot, and came to the house just as the fight was going on."

Jabez lives with his parents on Fairfax avenue, but spends most of his time at his grandfather's house."

SMITHFIELD, Ill., June 27.—The 3-year-old child of Oscar Cannon Monday night fel linto a well 42 feet deep. The father, seeing the child fall became violently insane. Neighbors secured grab-hooks and were able to raise the child to within five feet of the top, when the hold broke, letting the child fall back into the five feet of water below. One of the farmers was let down into the well. He brought the child to the top, where he was found to be uninjured, except a slight scratch made by the grab-hook. After being violently insane for 12 hours the father's reason was restored.

MISS PANSY SHERWOOD.

WED AT SPRINGFIELD.

MISS PANSY SHERWOOD AND LIEUT. GEORGE B. WEBSTER.

MANY ST. LOUISANS PRESENT.

Bridal Couple Will Make a Tour of Europe and Then Return to St. Louis to Reside.

At 7 o'clock Wednesday night, Miss Pansy Sherwood, daughter of Judge Thomas A. Sherwood of the State Supreme Court, will become the bride of Lieut. George Barry Webster of St. Louis, who is a prominent figure in military and social circles.

The wedding will take place at Oakwood, the pretty country home of the Sherwoods, near Springfield, Mo. In attendance will be a large delegation representing society from St. Louis, Jefferson City, Springfield and other places.

Miss Iza May Berry of Springfield will be maid of honor. Capt. L. M. Rumsey of St. Louis will be best man. The groomsmen will be Robert Andres and Cal P. Johnston of Springfield. The father and mother of the groom went from St. Louis Tuesday night. Judge Sherwood went from Jefferson City several days ago.

Wednesday night the bride and groom will leave for New York. From there they will make a tour of Europe, paying special attention to Paris. On their return to St. Louis they will live at the Planters', pending arrangements for a home on Lindell boulevard.

There is an element of romance in the Webster-Sherwood wedding. They met at the Wilson Creek reunion in Springfield two years ago. It was an instance of love at first sight.

VIENNA, June 28.—No one here is astonished by the news from St. Petersburg, as every one here is aware of the gypsy prediction, according to which the Czarina will give birth to seven daughters before presenting her husband with a boy. Meanwhile the question of succession to the throne remains as acute as heretofore, and the reluctance of the Russian Government officials to render loyal obedience to the Czar's progressive behests and thus incur the enmity of the reactionary Empress mother, who would be restored to full power at his death without male issue, will continue as heretofore.

After Intercepting a Letter the Infuriated Wife Hurried to Commit Her Deed in a Hotel.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., June 28.—Cora Oglesby, 23 years old, employed as a domestic in the Folsom Hotel, was to-day shot four times by Mrs. Sadie Martin, who charges criminal relationship of the girl and her husband, who is an ex-Sante Fe engineer.

The Martins and Miss Oglesby came here two weeks ago from Chanute, Kan. Mrs. Martin is a daughter of State Senator Rowe of Neosho County, Kansas. The Oglesby girl has lived at Cairo, where she has a sister, and also at St. Louis, where her parents are said to reside. She also has a sister in Monmouth. She went to Kansas a year ago, and becoming acquainted with the Martins entered their family as a domestic. She was brought here with the family, and Mrs. Martin secured her the position in the hotel.

Mrs. Martin says she intercepted a letter which the girl had addressed to her husband, and at once decided to kill her. She went to the hotel this morning and after denouncing her fired six shots at the victim. Four took effect and the girl will not live. She refuses to talk of the affair.

Mrs. Martin, with wonderful coolness, left her victim, and walking to the police station, gave herself up. She is still cool. Mrs. Martin is about 33 and is a handsome brunette.

The students claim to have suffered certain humiliations at the hands of the board, and by way of retaliating adopted the word "Work" for their motto, and determined to appear in laborers' garb to claim their diplomas. The townspeople indorsed the act of the pupils and the board abandoned the management of the city's educational affairs.

STREET BATTLE WITH PISTOLS.

One Dead, Two Dying, Two Seriously Wounded.

GAMBLERS' FEUD SHOT OUT.

FOUGHT IN THE MOST PROMINENT SPOT IN GALVESTON.

Of the Chief Combatants, James Johnson Was Killed and Wm. A. Boyd Mortally Wounded; Two Bystanders Shot, One Fatally.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

GALVESTON, Tex., June 28.—One dead, two dying, two seriously injured—this is the casualty list of a street duel at the corner of Tremont and Market streets, the most prominent quarter of the city. The man now dead was a principal in the affray; one of the dying is the other; the other dying and both the seriously wounded men, were bystanders, who were unable to escape.

The shooting was between James Johnson and William A. Boyd, both gamblers, and its cause dated back more than a year. Then, Johnson quarreled with Dick Springfield, a well-known gambler here, over a game of cards in the "Sixty-six" saloon. One accused the other of cheating; there were hot words, oaths and shots, and Springfield, in the parlance of his ilk, "passed in his checks." Johnson was tried for murder, but was acquitted.

Boyd was Springfield's friend and he resented the death of his partner at Johnson's hands. He boasted that Johnson, too, should die with his boots on, and Johnson heard of it, and defied Boyd. Each looked for the chance to get the drop on the other, but neither was careless enough to give his opponent the opportunity he coveted.

About a week ago Boyd and Johnson met and had hot words, and Johnson drew a pistol and leveled it at his enemy. Quick as a flash Boyd leaped at Johnson and grappled with him. They wrestled and fought until finally Boyd wrested the pistol from his opponent before Johnson could fire a shot. Then he turned in and gave Johnson such a beating that he nearly killed him.

Johnson's friends rescued him and sent him home for repairs. He was laid up until yesterday, and every day that he spent indoors increased his hatred for his enemy and his thirst for Boyd's blood. He got out of bed yesterday, armed himself and started out for the avowed purpose of settling Boyd, once for all.

Just in front of the "Two Brothers" saloon, at Tremont and Market streets, Johnson met Boyd. They started, glared at each other and Johnson shouted, as he pulled his pistol.

"I've got you now!"

He fired, but his shot went wild. Then Boyd pulled his own revolver and taking aim at Johnson, fired. The ball struck Johnson in the abdomen, and Johnson began to go down. Four more shots from the Boyd revolver followed, so rapidly that they could scarcely be counted, each one true, each one lodging, as did the first, in Johnson's abdomen. The sixth shot went into Johnson's chest as he fell.

But meanwhile Johnson had not been idle. Though his first shot failed to reach his enemy, he kept on throwing bullets as fast as he could work his revolver. As a consequence, while most of his shots had no effect, Boyd finally went down with a ball in the left thigh that shattered the bone and sent him, bleeding and helpless, into the gutter. Policeman Bowe had meanwhile rushed in and taken Johnson, who was fast dying, in his arms. It was while thus supported, leaning over the shoulder of the officer of the law, that Johnson, taking deliberate aim, sent his last bullet at Boyd. It struck the fallen man squarely in the right arm, smashing the bone to splinters. Then Johnson died.

Boyd's friends took him to a hospital and gave him every attention. His wounds are serious, but he has a bare chance for recovery. His friend Jack Nave, another gambler, who backed up Boyd in his battle and is reported to have fired a few shots or so himself, is in jail. He was unhurt.

All this fusillade of shooting attracted a great crowd, and to this is due the other cases which are keeping the hospital busy. George Lovick, a machine helper working at Fort San Jacinto, one of the new fortifications building here by the United States Government, stopped to see what was going on. He was across the street with a friend and carried his dinner basket on his arm. A chance shot struck him, passed through his groin and his liver and he died in a short while, leaving a large family unprovided for. W. A. Goodman, an engineer in the United States service, on the Jetty Railroad, also a passer-by, was shot through the apex of the lungs and his chances for recovery are small. His family lives in Decatur, Ill. A man named Fuller, a carpenter, is carrying a bullet in one shoulder and is in a serious condition. Several others are nursing minor wounds.

Plate glass windows in the neighborhood are wrecked from the flying bullets; doors are full of holes and that more bystanders were not injured is a marvel.

Johnson's parents live in Austin, of which town his father is city clerk. He had be wild for years. Little is known of Boyd

CAN'T WORRY HER

WILLIAM F. RYAN RESTRAINED FROM SUING A WIDOW.

HAS A CONTRACT WITH HER.

She Thought a Life Insurance Policy Worthless and Agreed to Give Him a Share.

Judge Withrow Wednesday granted Almedia Barrington an order perpetually restraining William F. Ryan from prosecuting any suit he now has, and from bringing others against her on a written contract which she made with him in 1898 for collecting a policy of insurance which she held.

Mrs. Barrington lives in St. Joseph, Mo. She alleged that shortly after her marriage in 1866 she purchased a $5000 insurance policy on the life of her husband and continued the payments in 1886, when he left his home in a mysterious manner.

She said she discontinued the payment of the premiums then because she concluded when she received no tidings from him he was dead. She alleged that the policy was non-forfeitable, and that the insurance company was bound by its terms until ten years after the disappearance of her husband. But she declared she was ignorant of this effect of the contract, and presumed that the policy was not good after she had allowed the first payment to lapse.

She alleged that William F. Ryan, the defendant, learned the nature of the policy while employed at the company's St. Louis agency. She claimed he investigated the case and, ascertaining that her husband had died away from home in 1896, just five days before the time limit of the policy expired, he went to her home in St. Joseph and inquired for the policy. She charges that he represented himself to be an insurance lawyer and accountant, and said he was engaged in adjusting claims on lapsed policies.

She declares that when he was shown the policy, he looked at it doubtfully and said he didn't think he could recover more than $400 on it, although, she avers, he knew that it was good for its face value. She says he then proposed that she employ him to collect what he could on it, giving him one-third of any sum he might recover. Thinking the policy was worthless she signed the contract.

She said she subsequently learned that the policy was binding on the company and wrote to them about it. She received a reply from the secretary informing her that the money was ready for her. Ryan, however, heard of the correspondence with the company and stopped payment on the policy by threatening her and the company with injunction suits. Mrs. Ryan said he sued her in a New Jersey court and attached some property she had there. She declared he harrassed her with the contract upon every move she made to collect the policy. She asked that he be enjoined from using the contract against her in the future on the ground that it was improperly obtained.

QUARRELED OVER WIVES.

A tragedy was narrowly averted at 1510 Carr street late Tuesday evening. Alger H. Bischoff has a serious wound in the left side near the hip and the Fourth District police are searching for his former friend, Charles Broadhead.

Bischoff lives at 2811 Cass avenue. He is seperated from his young wife, who is living with her sister on Carr street. Broadhead is also married, but is living apart from his wife. Mrs. Broadhead resides at 915 Morgan street.

The two families were fast friends until a few months ago, when it is alleged, the husbands suspected each was paying too much attention to the other's wife. There was a quarrel and both men left their homes. Mrs. Bischoff went to live with her sister.

Tuesday evening Bischoff was passing his sister-in-law's home. Broadhead and Mrs. Bischoff were talking on the steps. Bischoff stopped and a quarrel ensued between the men.

Broadhead pulled a revolver and when Bischoff started toward him he fired, the bullet entering Bischoff's left side. The shooting attracted the police and Bischoff was arrested. Broadhead escaped. The wounded man was taken to the City Dispensary where Dr. Voerster dressed the wound.

Bishoff was later released by the police and taken to his home. His assailant has not been apprehended.

DR. WAIT FOR ELECTION BOARD.

Filley's Friend May Be Appointed as a Commissioner.

Dr. Walter J. Wait is said to be slated for appointment as the Republican member of the new Election Board. Dr. Wait told a friend a few days ago that he had been assured of the appointment.

Just before the passage of the new law, Dr. Wait was in Jefferson City. He gave it out that he was there to intercede for the negro murderer Shackelford, then under sentence of death, but it was hinted at the time that the doctor's real purpose was to see the Governor about the appointment of a Republican member of the Election Board. Dr. Wait is a devoted Filley adherent, and ran for Sheriff on the Filley independent ticket last fall. He wastes no love on the Mayor and the City Hall gang, and his appointment on the board would carry as much consternation into the administration camp as would the appointment of Mr. Filley himself.

ITS ANIMUS CLEARLY SHOWN.

Cincinnati Newspaper Convicted by Its Own Malicious Headlines.

The animus of a certain Cincinnati newspaper in attacking the Elks of St. Louis is clearly shown in the headlines of an item in that paper of June 27, which read: "St. Louis Elks—Acknowledge Their Inability to Handle the Big Meeting."

And yet underneath the headlines is the statement by Mr. Aloe, Exalted Ruler of St. Louis Lodge, No. 9, that the visiting Elks were fairly and properly treated by St. Louis.

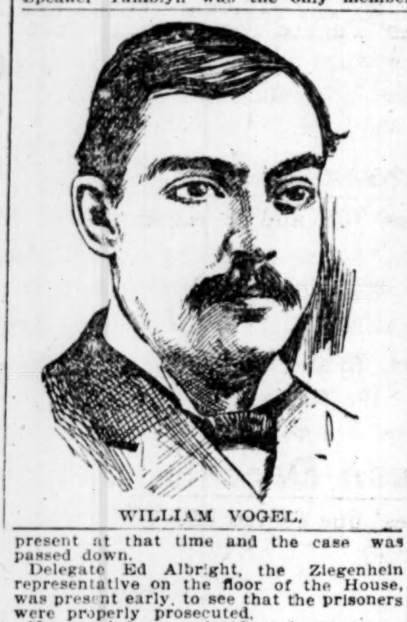
DELEGATES IN THE COURT

Members of the House Arraigned Before Judge Clark and Their Hearing Postponed.

Sixteen members of the House of Delegates were in the Court of Criminal Correction Wednesday charged with misconduct in office in the matter of unseating William Vogel, delegate from the Fourth Ward.

The hour for their arraignment before Judge Clark was set at 10 o'clock. Ex-Speaker Tamblyn was the only member present at that time and the case was passed down.



WILLIAM VOGEL.

Delegate Ed Albright, the Ziegenhein representative on the floor of the House, was present early, to see that the prisoners were properly prosecuted.

He occupied a seat inside the railing during the proceedings.

On the second calling of the case the Delegates filed in in a body. Speaker Murrell lead them, and following him were H. A. Faulkner, J. J. Hannigan, Charles F. Kelly, George F. Robertson, Edmund Bersch, Louis Decker, Charles A. Gutke, Emile Hartmann, John Helms, Julius Lehman, Adolph Madera, Murrell, Otto Schumacher and William Tamblyn.

Their route to the bar led past Mr. Albright. He smiled pleasantly at his colleagues, and in return received fifteen angry scowls.

After the warrant had been read, each entered a plea of not guilty. The cases were set for hearing on July 28.

MRS. WACKERLE HAS WEALTH.

Police Found Thousands of Dollars of Her Money Hidden—She Has Been Sent to the Insane Asylum.

Mrs. Walberger Wackerle, who haunted the Federal Building for years endeavoring to secure a pension for a relative's service in the Civil War, on the plea that she was a poor woman, and who is now in the insane asylum, was discovered Tuesday to be rich.

Cash amounting to $13,666.15 and $1100 in United States bonds were found in an old trunk in the little room formerly occupied by her in the rear of 1221 South Third street. The find was made by Officer Hanrahan of the Third District, who searched the room with Sergeant Hess and Public Administrator Richardson. The cash and bonds were placed in the care of the latter.

Mrs. Wackerle disappeared from the room June 6. Several days later she was picked up on the streets and sent to the City Insane Asylum.

WHY TAXES WERE REDUCED.

The Interest and Sinking Funds Have an Overplus.

Taxpayers may wonder why they are called upon to pay less this year than they did last. The explanation lies in the flourishing condition of the city's interest and sinking funds.

These funds are not flourishing because of any economy or good management, but simply because the laws made in the past have provided more means for the payment of interest and the redeeming of bonds than is required.

The charter sets apart this fund, and provides that it may not be used for any other purpose. If this were not the case, the excess might be used to pay for a new City Hospital. The tax rate of 40 cents on the $100 valuation has produced so much money that there is plenty in the treasury to redeem the $476,000 worth of bonds which fall due Jan. 1, 1900. After these bonds are taken up, no more will be due until June 1, 1905, when $950,000 will be due. It was found by a calculation that the tax rate could be reduced 10 cents on the $100, and enough revenue would be produced to pay the 1905 bonds. This accounts for the reduction of 10 cents.

WHERE NOTED MEN ARE BURIED

Health Commissioner Asked for Information by an Eastern Publisher.

An Eastern publisher has written to Health Commissioner Starkloff for information about the last resting places of a number of noted Missourians. He says he is compiling the information to be used in a volume of biography of great Americans. He asks the location of the graves of Edward Bates, Attorney-General in Lincoln's first Cabinet, who died in 1869 in St. Louis; Gen. Sterling Price, the noted Confederate leader, who died here in 1867; Noah Miller Ludlow, actor and dramatist, who died here in 1886; Rev. Father Peter John De Smet, a noted clergyman, who died here in 1872; and Gov. B. Gratz Brown, who died in St. Louis in 1885. The mortuary records of the Health Department furnish the information desired. All except Edward Bates were buried in St. Louis.

A TICKET BROKER ON TRIAL.

Jacob Friedman Charged With Altering a Railroad Ticket.

Jacob Friedman, a Union Station ticket broker, is on trial in Judge Klein's court on the charge of altering railroad tickets.

It is alleged that Friedman sold one ticket that when issued was good from Kansas City to St. Joseph. It was so altered as to read from St. Louis to Kansas City and the date was changed from Aug. 9 to Aug. 19. The ticket was via the Missouri Pacific. Judge Green of De Soto, Simon S. Bass and George Fickeissen have been retained as special counsel for the railroad company.

GOEBEL WON AT LAST.

NOMINATED FOR GOVERNOR BY THE KENTUCKY DEMOCRATS.

BEAT HARDIN AND STONE.

The Convention Has Been in Session a Week and Twenty-six Ballots Were Taken.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 28.—William Goebel, who, with an iron grasp, has ruled the Democratic State Convention since it assembled, nearly a week ago, was finally nominated for Governor on the twenty-sixth ballot, after a contest unparalleled in this State for bitterness and determination and for skillful manipulation. The end of the long, exhausting fight brought a reasonable degree of harmony to the factions. Nearly everybody joined heartily in a demonstration when their candidate appeared for the first time before the convention to accept the nomination and return his thanks.

The Goebel forces held the opposition closely down to business, forcing continuous balloting, defeating them when they showed signs of weakness and sought a sine die adjournment, compelling a vote on a proposition to drop the hindmost man on each ballot after the twenty-fifth. Stone was dropped on the twenty-fifth and Hardin proved unable to control enough of the Stone votes to win. The scenes during the last ballot were dramatic.

After the nomination the convention enjoyed a few minutes of relaxation and reconciliation. Speeches were made by Congressman Wheeler, Judge Tarvin and other managers for the three candidates, and the theme of all was "Get together and win."

When the convention met to-day J. C. N. Beckham of Nelson County was nominated for Lieutenant-Governor.

CHANGES AMONG INSPECTORS.

Henry Alt's Appointment as Harbor Commissioner Causes New Arrangements in the Street Department.

At a conference in the Mayor's office Wednesday morning the appointments of District Street Superintendents were arranged. The appointment of Henry Alt as Harbor and Wharf Commissioner made vacant the First District superintendency. John B. Owens will be given that place. He has been in charge of the Second District. Chris Schawacker goes into the Second District, William Broecker takes the Third and Charles Witthoeft, a new appointee, the Fourth.

Louis, generally called "Tub," Becker is slated for appointment to succeed George W. Riechmann as Sprinkling Superintendent.

Street Commissioner Varrelmann said Wednesday that he would consult the Mayor Thursday about the appointment of 21 sprinkling inspectors.

The appointment of Witthoefft is a sop to North St. Louis, which has been up in arms because the Mayor has been favoring the South Side in his appointments.

Witthoefft was backed by Councilmen Gast and Gaus and Collector Wenneker.

LIEUT. KERTH COMMENDED.

A Cairo Boy Wins Distinction in Battle With the Filipinos.

All Cairo (Ill.) is taking much pride to itself on account of the distinction won by Second Lieut. Monroe C. Kerth, a son of Thomas J. Kerth, formerly cashier of the Alexander County National Bank. Lieut. Kerth is one of the few representatives of the Mississippi Valley region now with the army in the Philippines.

In his report on the first battle with the Filipinos Brig. Gen. Overshine says: "I commend particularly to superior authority the gallant conduct under fire of Second Lieut. M. C. Kerth, Twenty-third Infantry, aide-de-camp. He twice placed himself in charges in advanced and dangerous position, setting a splendid example to the men, and his services as an aide were most valuable."

Lieut. Kerth entered West Point in 1894. He was hurried to the front soon after the opening of the Spanish war.

The only other prominent representative of the Mississippi region in the Philippines, it so happens, is also from Cairo. He is First Lieut. David Jewett Baker, Jr., son of the late David J. Baker, formerly a member of the Supreme Court of Illinois. He belongs to the Twelfth United States Regulars, which was stationed at Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, after its return from Santiago.

REALTY OWNERS SUBSCRIBE.

World's Fair Executive and Finance Committees Met Together.

An advance meeting of the executive and finance committees of the World's Fair was held at the office of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. Tuesday afternoon, at which the work of the real estate owners and other committees was reviewed, preparatory to the meeting of the committee of 200 at the Mercantile Club Wednesday evening.

At Tuesday's meeting the prevailing feeling was that of encouragement and hope. The members of the two committees are convinced that the few interests that have so far failed to do their duty will come forward soon.

A telegram from ex-Gov. Francis at Chicago was read. He said he would certainly be present at the Wednesday meeting, and that he has important reports from the railroad and other interests.

Chairman William H. Thompson of the finance committee presided over the meeting. About one-half the real estate owners committees reported, the rest asking more time. The committee consisting of Messrs. Gehner, De Menil, Jones and Hart, reported the largest subscriptions, a total of $40,000, with promises of $10,000 more.

LIVER ILLS.

DR. RADWAY & CO., New York:

Dear Sirs—I have been sick for nearly two years, and have been doctoring with some of the most expert doctors of the United States. I have been bathing and drinking hot water at the Hot Springs, Ark., but it seemed everything failed to do me good. After I saw your advertisement I thought I would try your pills, and have nearly used two boxes; been taking two at bedtime and one after breakfast, and they have done me more good than anything else I have ever used. My trouble has been with the liver. My skin and eyes were all yellow; I had sleepy, drowsy feelings; felt like a drunken man; pain right above the navel, like as if it was bile on top of the stomach. My bowels were costive. My mouth and tongue sore most of the time. Appetite fair, but food would not digest, but settle heavy on my stomach, and some few mouthfuls of food come up again. I could only eat light food that digests easily. Please send "Book of Advice." Respectfully,

WOULDN'T PAY NEW JUSTICES.

Auditor Mason Claims That They Have Done the City No Service.

Auditor Mason Wednesday refused to pay the salaries of Justices of the Peace W. J. Pollard and J. J. Spaulding, appointed under the speecial law passed by the last Legislature, and the salaries of their clerks, constables and deputies. The reason he gives for his refusal is that they have not given any service to the city.

Under the law the comptroller was charged with the duty of finding quarters for these judges, and he has never done so.

The amount due them and their deputies is $608.33 for each office for one month. They will enter suit to compel payment under the law.

TANZBURGER'S INHERITANCE.

Money Willed to a Man Who Disappeared Thirty Years Ago Divided.

The prayer of the plaintiffs in the suit of Walter Meyer and others against August Tanzburger and others was granted Wednesday by Judge Withrow.

The suit involves the mysterious disappearance of August Tanzburger in 1869. He was a son of Henry Tanzburger and left home one day without saying farewell or making preparations for a long journey. He has not been seen nor heard from since his disappearance. Henry Tanzburger died in 1879, leaving four sons. He made a will in which he divided his property equally between them. Referring to August, he said it was his desire that the will should hold for 20 years, and, if by that time August should still be missing, his share should be divided equally among the surviving three sons.

The estate was partitioned and sold, and one-fourth of the money realized was deposited with the Circuit Clerk to hold for 20 years as trustee for August. The time elapsed Monday, and the three brothers petitioned the court to award them the money in the Circuit Clerk's hands. The amount is $1500.

EDUCATION IN GASTRONOMY.

Mrs. Miller Believes in the Theory and Makes Other Women Hear It.

LONDON, June 28.—At to-day's session of the International Council of Women, Mrs. Stanton Blatch read a paper on "Primary Education," advocating the use of manual works at every step of education, but deprecating the introduction of domestic occupations and trying to adapt trades to educational processes.

Mrs. Miller advocated her well known views on physical development through the reorganization of the food question, but the Chairwoman, Mrs. Stevenson, intervened and declared that questions in the shape of kitchens, preparation of food, were hardly within the scope of the discussion. To this Mrs. Miller replied that rational and physical education was the only question she wished to discuss, and suggested that, perhaps, it had been placed on the wrong programme.

The audience finally invited Mrs. Miller to continue, which she did, meeting with much applause.

Twelve Hundred Workers Now Out in Chicago's Stock Yards.

CHICAGO, June 28.—The latest recruits to the strikers at the stock yards are 40 girls who have been drawing 75 cents per day in the butterine and egg department of Armour & Co. They asked an increase to $1 and upon refusal walked out.

It is estimated that 1200 men were out to-day. It is claimed by the men that the raise in wages which caused many to resume work is only temporary.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 28.—After an unsuccessful strike of seventeen days duration, the freight handlers returned to work to-day. The 2400 men involved returned at the old rates, 15 cents per hour, except the Erie men, who were receiving 14 cents. They will now receive 15 cents.

MARRIED THE WIDOW.

ST. LOUISAN SECRETLY WED IN BELLEVILLE.

SECRET WOULD NOT KEEP.

Mrs. Maycie C. Johnson and Delmer McCleary United by a Justice of the Peace.

Belmer McCleary of St. Louis has a wife. She was Mrs. Mayce C. Johnson, a vivacious, buxom widow, prior to 5:30 o'clock Tuesday evening. The two were married at that hour by a Belleville Justice of the Peace. They exerted themselves to keep their marriage secret.

It was after 5 o'clock when the couple reached Belleville on an electric car. The County Clerk's office had closed for the day, but Deputy Ernst Hilgard was still about the Courthouse. They found him and told him what they wanted, although that was entirely unnecessary.

He was feeling humorous, so he worried the widow awhile by making her believe they could not have a license.

The young man took the situation more to heart than the woman. He was on the verge of nervous prostration and was perspiring more than the temperature warranted, when Mr. Hilgard said he would issue the license.

After that the woman was as chipper as a cricket and the youth also revived somewhat.

They asked Mr. Hilgard about keeping the issuance of the license secret. There is a rule now in the County Clerk's office that licenses are to be suppressed under no circumstances. Mr. Hilgard told them so. The woman did not seem to care much, but the young man looked very solemn. To relieve his mind Mr. Hilgard remarked that all the reporters had gone for the day, and the license might be overlooked the next day.

They inquired for a justice of the peace and were sent to the office of a young man on the Public Square, who has recently gone into the justice business.

He married them and the request for secrecy was repeated to him. Such strong persuasion was used that when the couple left the office he was stricken with lapse of memory and claimed he did not know their names.

A Day line car was standing on the Public Square, but they were too wise to board it there. They walked two blocks west to Spring street, as though in haste to keep an engagement, and then stood on that corner 20 minutes waiting for the next car.

The youth looked affrighted when a reporter asked him about it. He shrank toward the ex-widow and said he really hadn't anything to tell. His wife laughed roguishly.

From remarks made by the buxom bride-elect in the courthouse and justice's office it was inferred that the youth's parents objected to the marriage on account of her advantage in years.

The names of neither are in the St. Louis Directory. It is probable the names were disguised or the St. Louis address was fictitious.

LASH—WILLIAMS.

Ceremony in the West Presbyterian Church of Cabanne.

The last of the West End June weddings took place at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, when Miss Edna Adeline Lash, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lash, was married to Mr. Guy V. Williams, the ceremony being solemnized in the West Presbyterian Church of Cabanne. The decorations were entirely of evergreens and palms, arranged simply, but with exquisite taste.

Before the arrival of the bridal party, Mr. James Quarles, the organist, played some beautiful selections from Lohengrin, ending artistically with the "Bridal Chorus," as the wedding procession entered the church.

The ushers were Messrs. Bertram Hanson, Lee McLean, Joseph Beckwith, Arthur Wiley, Dr. Horace C. Lloyd and Dr. Robert Wilson, and the best man was Mr. Herman Haeberly.

Miss Mary Lash, the bride's sister, acted as maid of honor, with Misses Gertrude Green, Lottie Pope and Emma Campbell as bridemaids. They were gowned alike in girlish frocks of white organdie and lace over white silk, the skirts made with a graceful demi-train and the waists decolette and sleeveless. The two little flower girls, Misses Margaret Wilson and Ariadne Long, were also gowned in white organdie with white stockings and shoes.

The bride, who is a very bright and attractive girl, wore white corded silk, the skirt made en traine and embroidered daintily in seed pearls, and the corsage high with yoke and sleeves of shirred tulle. Her bridal veil was held in place by a coronet of myrtle and white roses and in lieu of the usual gigantic bouquet she carried a single, long-stemmed carnot rose.

After the ceremony at the church, a reception was held for relatives and special friends at the Lash residence, on the corner of Goodfellow and Julian avenues. Later, Mr. Williams and his bride departed for the East, to travel a week or two, before going to their future home in Minneapolis.

CAPTURED IN NEW YORK CITY.

William Ballard Wanted for the Killing of Clayton Young.

As was told in the late editions of Tuesday's Post-Dispatch, William Ballard, the negro stable boy who is charged with the murder of Clayton Young, also a negro, in this city three years ago, has been arrested in New York. He will be brought to St. Louis for trial as soon as the authorities can comply with requisition formalities.

Ballard left St. Louis immediately after the shooting and succeeded in eluding the police until Tuesday, when he was recognized at the Sheepshead Bay race course by a detective. He made no effort to conceal his identity, and declared he had been employed at all the great race tracks under his right name since Young's death.

Ballard, it is charged, shot Young at the Social Club, 4206 Margaretta avenue, June 22, 1896.

50,000 SOLDIERS FOR GEN. OTIS.

The Army Will Be Recruited to the Full 100,000.

NO REGIMENTS FROM STATES.

NEW MEN WILL BE KNOWN AS UNITED STATES VOLUNTEERS.

Further Efforts Will Be Made to Induce the Troops Now Leaving the Philippines to Re-enlist and Remain There.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The War Department has changed its policy of evasion. There is now no concealment of the fact that Otis needs and will be given more men. Just as quickly as possible his effective force will be increased to 50,000.

Renewed efforts will be made to induce the volunteers now about to leave Manila for home, to re-enlist and remain there.

The offer of a bounty of travel, pay and rations, amounting to about $500 to each man, has failed to induce any large number of these volunteers to re-enlist. Now an offer of a furlough home will be added to the original proposition.

As a result of a conference between the President and Secretary Alger it has been decided to begin the enlistment of volunteers for two years' service in the Philippines. Orders to recruiting officers to this effect will be sent out to-morrow. It is proposed to arm and equip three brigades or about 10,000 men, and then to continue the work until the whole 35,000 authorized by law are secured.

There will be no call upon the States. The regiments will be organized as United States volunteers. Officers will be appointed by the President and assigned to regiments without regard to State lines. The maximum of the regular army of 65,000 men has been secured and now enlistments will be made for the provisional army to make up the total strength of 100,000 men. Gen. Otis has 29,300 men on the ground or under orders, and volunteers will be rushed to him until he has an effective force of 50,000 men.

In the enlistments for the United States volunteers of the late war, including those who did not get beyond the home camps, but were seasoned will be given the preference, and the same will be true of the officers. A Brigadier-General for every three regiments and a Major-General for each division of three brigades will be appointed. They will be part regulars and part volunteers, and Gen. Joe Wheeler will be among the number.

HE DISAGREED WITH OTIS.

That Is Why Gen. Anderson's Report Has Been Suppressed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The report of Brigadier-General T. M. Anderson, which army men declare severely criticises Major-General Otis' conduct of the campaign in the Philippines, will not be made public by the War Department. It is in the possession of Adjutant-General Corbin, who declares that it is of no public interest. These are the same tactics as those pursued with Col. Roosevelt's report upon the Santiago campaign.

Gen. Anderson was in command under Gen. Otis, but was recalled and is now in command of the Department of the Lakes at Chicago. His brother officers say that he is a man given to frank and vigorous declarations of his opinions, and they believe that in his report he sets forth Gen. Otis' error in supposing that all the insurgents were north of Manila, and that once they were whipped the rebellion would be over.

Anderson, it is said, insisted that the Province of Cavite was full of Aguinaldo's men, and that they should not be neglected. The battles to the south of Manila having proved the wisdom of his proposition, the report has been suppressed.

The current issue of the Army and Navy says: "Where is Gen. Anderson's report? It would appear from what we can learn that Gen. Anderson did not agree with Gen. Otis, as to the proper conduct of operations, and as he is accustomed to expressing his opinions frankly he has no doubt said so. Still, it would seem to be better to make the report public."

THREE NEGROES WERE SLAIN.

Race Troubles in Alabama Come to an Acute Phase.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 28.—Three negroes were killed and another was fatally wounded Monday night in a fight near the Blassburg coal tipples. The negroes had armed themselves and sought to prevent further search by the whites for John Shepherd, the colored man who assaulted Mrs. Monroe Jones near Corona last week. They stopped a white man near the tipples and disarmed him. The act was witnessed by other white men concealed in brush and they immediately fired on the blacks. After exchange of several volleys, Ed Ellis, Jim Diel and John Adams were picked up dead and George Thomas was found fatally wounded.

Several hundred armed negroes are now in rendezvous at Glasgow Hollow, and they have sworn to be revenged for the assassination of their friends.

RAILWAY TRUST NEXT IN ORDER.

Important Conference of Managers at New York.

VANDERBILTS REACHING OUT.

WESTERN LINES TO BE MERGED IN THE N. Y. CENTRAL.

The Scheme of Consolidation Is Fully Planned and Is Being Worked Out as Rapidly as Such Tasks Can Be Accomplished.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Important conferences of railroad managers are in progress in this city. Among those now here are William K. Vanderbilt, Samuel R. Callaway, president of the New York Central; President Newman of the Lake Shore, President Ledyard of the Michigan Central, President Coniff of the Nickel Plate, tral, President Coniff of the Pennsylvania, Norman B. Ream of Chicago, J. J. Hill of the Great Northern and Oscar G. Murray and John K. Cowan of the Baltimore & Ohio. It is said the Western men have come here to meet and consult with J. Pierpont Morgan and other prominent financiers in Wall street and many important changes in railroad management are looked for as a result of the gathering. Interest seems to center upon the Vanderbilt lines and the belief is growing that not only is the Boston & Albany to come into the New York Central's control, but step by step other consolidations of that system with roads in New England are to take place. The present plan contemplates the final absorption by the New York Central of the Boston & Albany, the Boston & Maine, the Fitchburg, the Maine Central and tributary lines.

Already the Lake Shore, the Michigan Central, the West Shore and the Nickel Plate have been taken by the New York Central. Despite denial, there is abundant substantiation in trustworthy places of the report that the Big Four and the Chesapeake & Ohio, as well as the Chicago & Northwestern, the Union Pacific and the Oregon Short Line are to be consolidated with the Central. It takes time to accomplish these tremendous tasks, but the plan is matured, and as fast as the transactions can be accomplished the scheme of consolidation is being worked out.

The ultimate disposition of the New York, New Haven & Hartford, so a prominent railroad official said, will be to incorporate it in the New York Central. The New Haven, it is known, wanted to lease certain parts of the Boston & Albany which adjoined its territory, and while there was a hitch over the terms the Central has, if these reports are true, stepped in and taken all. It is known that negotiations are under way between the New Haven and the Central for a consolidation of the properties, and it is generally believed that the New Haven, in the end, will come into the New York Central.

JAPAN FEARS NO POWER.

Gen. Mirura Opposes Increase of the Army and Navy.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 28.—The assembling of the peace conference at The Hague has led Viscount M. Mirura, the fire-eating Japanese general, to join hands with Count Okuma in a crusade against the extension of the army and navy and the increase of taxes. The viscount thinks that Japan is under no necessity of being prepared for military action. He says:

"China has neither power nor intention to fight us. The Siberian railway being unfit for rapid transportation of troops, Russia ought not to be a cause of disquietude on our part. No European power would be able to send an army of 30,000 or 50,000 men to the far east. It is not necessary that we should take the far eastern fleets of European powers as the standard of our navy. In a war in which this country may be involved, decisive battles will be fought on land in the last resort. A naval defeat, therefore, is not of serious consequence. Neither is this country in need of a big standing army. Seeing that European powers are not able to send large military forces there will be ample time after the breaking off of diplomatic relations to make the requisite preparations for repelling foreign invasion." This news of Viscount M. M. Mirura has created a sensation in Japan.

"The doctors gave me a little tonic, but I steadily grew worse and consulted another doctor. He helped me in some ways, but my headaches continued, and I began to have night sweats and my rest was so disturbed that I would have hysteria and would cry and worry over business matters and my poor health.

"Finally, husband took me South, but with no benefit. This was a year ago; no one can ever know what a winter of misery I spent. Would bloat after eating and was troubled with palpitation of heart and whites. Having read by happy chance of your medicine, I bought it and wrote for your advice, and before having finished the first bottle of Lydia E. GOES TO A FIRST WIFE.

SHE WILL SECURE THE ESTATE OF A WEALTHY BREWER.

THE SECRET OUT AFTER DEATH.

He Had Gained His Riches and Married Again After Desertion of Mrs. Moran No. 1.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 28.—The right of Mrs. Mary A. Moran to a widow's dower in the $300,000 estate of William J. Wright, the late Pittsburg brewer, is admitted by the second wife, who, until his death, had never known that he had been before married. Mrs. Wright has been in Chicago several days, having come to meet Mrs. Moran and investigate her claims to be considered the legal widow of Wright and those of her daughter to inherit the brewery stock. When Mrs. Moran showed that the man she married at the Holy Name Cathedral in 1873 was the same who died rich in Pittsburg, Mrs. Wright prepared to turn over to her her share in the estate. This will be her dower, a third of Wright's real estate during life and a third of his personal property. The settlement of the estate she turned over to Lowden, Estabrook & Davis, lawyers of this city.

There are no other claimants, and the right of Mrs. Moran to the dower being conceded she will start for Pittsburg soon and will before long come into the right from which the act of Moran so long kept her.

Mrs. Moran lives at present in the second flat of a two-story frame house, in Ravenswood, with her daughter and with her children by a former marriage. She had some means from her first husband, and on them and supported in part by her children, she has lived since her husband left her. Her daughter, Leonora, called by her friends "Dolly," is a tall, slender, young woman who was educated for a school teacher, but who was crippled by a bicycle accident some four years ago and has been prevented from taking a position. Now she will have no need to, and the many friends of the family in Ravenswood are rejoicing with them in their good fortune.

The story is a long one and dates back to 1873, when there was living in this city Mrs. Mary A. Thiesing, the widow of a Cincinnati druggist. In that year she married William Moran, a young man living here, and to them one daughter was born. The couple lived together about two years, and then Moran left, saying he was going to the Black Hills to dig for gold, and would write for his wife or return to her soon. From that time on nothing was heard from him. The Black Hills were being overrun by a reckless crowd of gold-seekers, and when word came that Moran was dead his wife readily accepted it as the truth and went into mourning for him. That he was dead she never doubted until a fortnight ago.

Moran, however, was not dead. He went to Ohio and changed his name some 15 years ago, and there married an estimable young woman. He removed with her to Pittsburg. There was then in Pittsburg a law restricting the number of saloons which could be licensed at a time. As a consequence these licenses were all valuable. Moran was a pleasant-spoken fellow and had always been something of a politician, and under the name of Wright he secured a license and opened a saloon. He prospered and became interested in the Phenix Brewing Company, which also prospered. About two years ago he made his will, and in it he left the bulk of his property to Mary J. Wright, his second wife. He left many other bequests, however, and among them was one of 30 shares of stock in the Phenix Brewing Company to "my daughter by my former marriage, now living in Chicago."

When he died and his will was opened Mrs. Wright, the second wife, learned for the first time that her husband had been married before. She at once took steps to locate the heir and came here with the executors of the estate and her attorneys to hunt for the legatee.

J. J. Philbin, an Omaha man, who had been a friend of Moran's when the latter went gold hunting, and who had followed his varied career, proved the man able to connect the two lives of the brewer. He notified Mrs. Wright and the executors that the former wife's name was Moran and at the same time wrote to Mrs. Moran that her daughter had been left 30 shares of brewery stock in Pittsburg by Moran, under the name of Wright. This stock is worth in the neighborhood of $15,000.

LOOCK'S BAD LUCK.

WEDDING, SET FOR TO-NIGHT, POSTPONED WITHOUT DATE.

BACHELORS' CLUB DID IT.

He Was a Member of the Peoria Society Whose Members Had Sworn to Wed Widows.

PEORIA, Ill., June 28.—It was an evil day when John Loock took the oath and obligations of the Peoria Bachelors' Club, swearing before his companions that he would wed none but a widow or subbmit to any punishment or fine the club might inflict. His wedding set for to-night is postponed indefinitely.

A week or so after he recorded his name in the secretary's book and paid the initiation fee he met Annie Fuchs, daughter of Louis C. Fuchs, a seller of meat, and fell desperately in love with her.

It was mutual and the pair agreed upon an early marriage.

Last week Loock notified the directors of his intention of marrying and forsaking the club. There was a hasty meeting and Mr. Loock was promptly expelled from membership and assessed a fine of $5, which he paid. It was then ordered that the charter be draped for 30 days and the members held a meeting at which plans were laid for a celebration at the wedding.

Mr. Loock, who had been preparing for the event for several weeks, called on Sunday night and the girl told him that she would not consent to being married at this time as her parents objected on account of the publicity given the affair by the bachelors' club. Loock openly denounced the club but his protestations did not avail.

Mr. and Mrs. Fuchs announced their willingness for him to marry Annie, but not at this time, and in view of the circumstances Loock accepted the compromise.

MRS. M'KINLEY'S ILLNESS.

Will Probably Interfere With the President's Summer Plans.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The state of Mrs. McKinley's health at this time is decidedly worse than it has usually been since she has been in the White House and the probable result will be that the President will remain in Washington practically all summer and will take very little if any vacation out of this city.

President McKinley's projected trip to the Pacific coast, which had been looked forward to in anticipation of the enjoyment for himself and improvement in Mrs. McKinley's condition, has been definitely abandoned. His proposed trip to Minnesota has also been abandoned.

The unfavorable turn in Mrs. McKinley's condition is attributed partly to a cold which she contracted just before leaving Washington. She is never strong and this cold seemed to weaken her to such an extent as to make it advisable to avoid the exertion which would have been necessary had she remained away as long as had been intended.

THE ALGER QUESTION.

AS VEXATIOUS AS THE PHILIPPINE PROBLEM.

A BURDEN TO M'KINLEY.

The War Secretary Seems Unable to Comprehend the Peculiar Position He Occupies.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Can President McKinley continue to carry the Alger burden? This query, in the minds of the President's friends comes next to the question of the Philippines.

"I have nothing to say about Gov. Pingree's interview in regard to President McKinley," said Secretary Alger this afternoon.

Pingree has certainly given the anti-Alger men in the administration a splendid opportunity to force the Secretray to resign. It can be positively stated that nearly the entire Cabinet was surprised by the Secretary's declaration that he proposed to remain in the War Department for a year yet, attending strictly to business. The inference which the Secretary evidently intended should be drawn from this statement was that during the year of his abstention from interest in matters Senatorial he would be altogether too pure to use the enormous patronage, the Porto Rican franchises, the army commissions and so on at his disposal in any way to further his interests and ambitions in the following year.

But this inference was received with scorn by more than one high Republican official, especially among the friends of Senator McMillan, by whom it was freely declared that the President ought to dismiss the Secretary from the Cabinet without delay.

Even among Alger's closest friends it is difficult to find one who believes that the Secretary should remain in the Cabinet under the circumstances.

He is opposing a warm friend of the President; he has formed an alliance with a man who controls the Republican party in an important State and who openly declares himself against the President on every point of the latter's record—against him on the Philippines, against him on the tariff and the trusts and against him on the Hanna system of politics, with all of which the President is identified.

If Alger's ally has his way Michigan will, of course, not support McKinley for a renomination, and how Alger can remain a member of the President's official family and yet be the ally of a man whose triumph means his chief's defeat passes the comprehension of Washington politicians. They say that for nerve nothing funnier than Alger, in his present attitude, has ever been perpetrated.

ILLINOIS TO FURNISH CAVALRY.

Col. Young Authorized to Complete Organization of a Regiment.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 28.—Col. E. C. Young of Chicago, has been authorized to organize a regiment of cavalry in the National Guard, to be composed of eight troops. Col. Young will be the commander of the regiment, which will be in readiness to come into camp here the latter part of July. Four troops will be organized in Chicago, one in Bloomington, one in Springfield and one in Peoria. Several cities are applicants for the honor of furnishing the other troop. It is the understanding with the men that the regiment is to be called into the regular service as soon as the President shall decide to call on Illinois for more troops.

siana Purchase Fair an opportunity even greater than that of Chicago. The direct and definite advantages enumerated will be repeated. Public improvements for which the city might wait for years, are to be expected as a necessary accompaniment of the fair. Private benefactions will naturally be suggested. The Field Museum, a magnificent evidence of public spirit under the stimulus of art, shows what may be expected in St. Louis, and the history of Jackson Park suggests other possibilities in that direction.

In fact, from every point of view, the citizen of St. Louis has reason to work with all his might for the World's Fair. Benefits cannot be monopolized. The poorest will share with the richest, some in one way, some in another. Chicago's experience records no failure. It was a success all along the line, through and through, from top to bottom.

All that is needed to enable St. Louis to equal and surpass the achievement of 1893 is for all citizens to co-operate heartily to the common end. Let each give and do according to his means and ability and the result can never be in doubt.

New light on the question of what becomes of the millions paid into the City Treasury by the St. Louis taxpayers is supplied by the police reports on street sprinkling. Spoilsmen and favored contractors eat up our municipal substance, while the people suffer discomfort and loss from ill-paved streets and ill-sprinkled streets. There is no money for public improvements, but millions for political spoils.

PECULIAR INCONSISTENCY.

According to the newspapers of St. Joseph, Mo., the people of that thriving city are indignant on account of the veto of the Haynes Waterworks bill by Gov. Stephens.

It is stated by the St. Joseph Record that 99 per cent of the people favored the bill, because it offered an opportunity for the city to acquire and operate the waterworks. The only opposition to the bill, it is affirmed, came from the owners of the waterworks company, and it is charged that millionaire L. C. Burnes dictated the veto in the interest of the waterworks corporation.

We refer to this act of Gov. Stephens because not only was the bill openly demanded by an overwhelming majority of the people of St. Joseph, but it passed the State Legislature by a unanimous vote. The only opposition to it was on the part of the owners of a private corporation, whose interests were opposed to those of the people of the municipality. Yet despite the unanimity of the people and the State legislators Gov. Stephens vetoed the bill.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the street railway consolidation bill was "jammed through" the State Legislature by the most corrupt and infamous lobby methods that ever disgraced the General Assembly of Missouri. Yet in his message approving this outrageous monopoly act, Gov. Stephens said that the vote in both branches of the Legislature, in favor of the bill, "was entitled to great consideration and to proper respect."

In one case Gov. Stephens wholly disregarded the unanimous opinion of the State Legislature backed by the almost unanimous demand of the people of the locality, and vetoed a bill which antagonized corporation interests.

In the other case, Gov. Stephens regarded with distinguished consideration the purchased majority of the Legislature in favor of a bill in the interest of a powerful and rich trust syndicate, but opposed by the people of the locality affected.

Why this inconsistency in favor of a rich corporation owner and a trust syndicate?

SOME HINTS ON VEGETABLES.

ONIONS should always be boiled in hard water salted, because they lose much of their flavor and aroma if boiled in pure, soft water.

String beans usually need to boil for 45 minutes. The addition of a small bit of salt pork will generally minimize any rank flavor and will improve them. When done, drain thoroughly, season with salt, pepper and butter.

Turnips, carrots, cabbage and onions should be boiled in a great deal of water and taken up immediately and drained when sufficiently done; overcooking destroys the taste, and too little water will allow them to turn dark in color.

New potatoes are the best baked.

A very little sugar added to tomatoes, squash, peas, corn, beets and turnips will improve them.

Turnips will cook more quickly when cut into thin slices—otherwise they will need to cook a long time.

Cauliflower should be tied in a net to prevent boiling to pieces.

Summer squash should be steamed and not boiled.

Put a piece of bread the size of an egg into a cheesecloth bag and drop into a pot of boiling greens to absorb the odor.

A little pinch of cayenne dropped into boiling cabbage, green beans, onions, etc., will lessen the disagreeable odor.

"What are you crying for, little boy?"

MADGE'S WAITING.

IT was a cold, rainy night in November when the train stopped at the little village of Ortonville and Madge Keith drew her mackintosh closer as the wind blew a whirl of rain against her.

Poor Madge! She was as desolate and forsaken as the few bird's nests swinging on the leafless boughs. She had been an orphan for two long weeks, and life seemed very empty to her.

"I will not be quite alone," she had thought, when the news of her father's death had been broken to her. "I will have Harold Deming." But the funeral services had passed and Madge had been in the house two dreary weeks, and yet Harold Deming, her most devoted suitor, had not called or even sent a message.

Madge could not understand it, and after a trying fortnight she had packed her clothes and come to stay with her one aunt in the country.

Life was dreary at Aunt Ellen's farm, although the young folks were in nearly every evening. The winter passed, and Madge grew white and thin. Sleighing parties and sewing bees were very comman, but Madge did not seem to care for any of them. She would sit by the big log fire in the old-fashioned kitchen and think and think.

She tried to forget that Harold had forsaken her. She tried to forget all about him, but she could not, and all this while she had no one to tell her troubles to.

She had not known before how much she had cared for him, but she was certain now that it was a great deal.

Spring came, with all its buds and fresh life. "Now the roses will bloom in her cheeks," Aunt Ellen thought. Madge did get a very little color in her cheeks, and she looked so fair that her Uncle Ellis said she was as pretty as a "pictur."

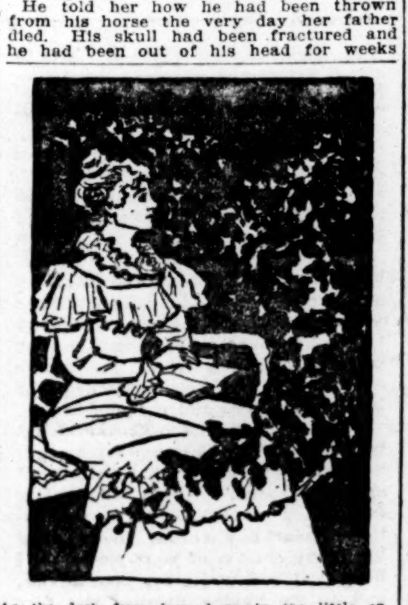
The June roses were blooming all over the farm when one day Madge, dressed modestly in a soft white dress, went with a book to the large rose covered arbor to read. Her golden hair was tucked up into a loose knot at the back of her head and was fastened with a pretty white rose, while she wore another rose at her throat.

Her eyes were resting vacantly on the first page of the book and she did not notice a tall, handsome man standing down at the garden gate.

Evidently he saw her, for he opened the gate and crossed the old-fashioned garden to the arbor. As the dark form loomed up in the little entrance, Madge glanced up. It was Harold Deming. Madge's heart stood still. Now that he was here she did not know whether to be angry or pleased, but when he sat down beside her she chose the former. "What do you mean, sir?" she said, vainly trying to be composed.

"Only that I'm glad, oh, so glad, that I've found my little sunbeam," he answered, as he drew her down beside him again. "I have a long, long story to tell," he said, and Madge thought hers would be longer, but she said nothing.

He told her how he had been thrown from his horse the very day her father died. His skull had been fractured and he had been out of his head for weeks and weeks, and when he began to gain his health he had a relapse. He told her that when he was better he had written notes to Madge and had received no answer, and when he was well enough he had started himself to find her.



As the dark form loomed up in the little entrance, Madge glanced up.

Then Madge told her troubles, and it was dusk before they had finished. Aunt Ellen came to call Madge to supper and was startled at the sound of a strange voice.

"This is my friend, Mr. Deming, Aunt Ellen," Madge said to her frightened aunt. "And your nephew, Aunt Ellen." Harold added as he offered an arm to both ladies to escort them to supper.

There were two happy hearts in old Ortonville that night, and Madge felt paid for her patient waiting.

PILGRIM MOTHERS' COOK

Recipes for Toothsome Dishes, Learn Early Settlers From the Indians or From Necessity.

SUCCOTASH.—(A time-honored dish, which, according to tradition, the Pilgrims learned how to make from the Indians.) One quart large white beans, six quarts hulled corn, six to eight pounds corned beef, from the second cut of the rattle rand; one pound salt pork, fat and lean; chicken, weighing from four to six pounds; one large, white French turnip, eight or ten potatoes. Wash the beans and soak over night in cold water. In the morning put them in cold soft water. When boiling, change the water and simmer until soft enough to mash to a pulp and the water is nearly all absorbed. Wash the salt pork and corned beef, which should be corned only three or four days. Put them on about 8 o'clock in cold water, in a very large kettle, and skim as they begin to boil. Clean and truss the chicken as for boiling, and put it with the meat about an hour and a quarter before dinner time. Allow a longer time if a fowl be used, and keep plenty of water in the kettle. Two hours before dinner time put the beans, mashed to a pulp, and the hulled corn, into another kettle, with some of the fat from the meat in the bottom to keep them from sticking. Take out enough liquor from the meat to cover the corn and beans, and let them simmer when they will not burn. Stir often, and add more liquor if needed. The mixture should be like a thick soup, and the beans should absorb all the liquor, yet it must not be too dry. Pare and cut the turnips into inch slices; add it about 11 o'clock, and the potatoes (pared) half an hour later. Take up the chicken as soon as tender, that it may be served whole. Serve the beef and pork together; the chicken, turnip and potatoes each in separate dishes, and the beans and corn in a tureen. The more common way, however, is to serve the whole together in one dish.

CLAM CHOWDER.—Three pints clams; one quart potatoes sliced thin; four slices pork fried in a deep kettle. Separate the stomachs from the bodies of the clams, and chop the bodies, not very fine. Put the potatoes in pork fat, with very little water, and cook until soft. Then add the clams and cook five minutes. Salt to taste. Have ready heated half pints of milk, and just b from the fire add the milk. soon it will curdle. Break t hard crackers into the bottom and pour the hot chowder over an onion if they like the flav clam taste is lost if much of t be used.

CORN BREAD.—Two cups f Indian meal, one-half cup sug three teaspoons baking powde sweet milk, quite soft.

Life is like a lotus vision,
Don't you know,
Full of joys they call elysian,
Don't you know,
Till a thousand woes o'ertake us,
Rip us up the back and shake us,
And a pack of monkeys make us,

Just a mad exhilaration,
Don't you know?
On we go, the devil daring,
Neither thinking, knowing, caring
Where our feet so fast are faring,
Don't you know!

Life is just a bit of headache,
Don't you know?
Just a heavy, dull and dead ache,
Don't you know?
Just a heartache—canst deny it?
What avails the mirth and riot,
If the heart is never quiet,
Don't you know?

ANENT THE SEA SERPENT.

It is over in New Jersey, where they breed
the octopus,
Where the trusts all have their hamlets
and they say "to ——" with us,
That they caught a real sea serpent and they chained him on the beach;
He is 20 feet or longer, and they say he is a peach.
With a head just like a dragon and with eyes of green and red;
And sometimes he snorts smoke and then he spits out fire instead!
His neck is like a barrel, like a turtle's is his back;
While the roaring of his voice would put to flight of wolves a pack!
All old mariners and seadogs now will say:
"I told you so!
Didn't we all speak of serpents of the sea
long years ago?"
But I think the real disaster's not the capture of the beast,
But the fact that on the people he is bound to make a feast.
He will join the rest of Jersey's fine old brood of trusts and sich,
And just wait, the old sea serpent, he will soon be very rich;
Then the trusts will get their clutches on the wild thing of the sea,
And will say: "Now, let us show you. You have howled so long that we Have decided to exhibit a real octopus to you;
Come along, you merry doubters—see an octopus on view!"
What a day 'twill be, my people, when in Jersey State a trust
Will show the staring people a real, living octopus!

THE MISSOURI STAKE.

THE ENTRIES FOR IT GO IN FAIR GROUNDS BOX WEDNESDAY.

IT WILL BE RUN ON THURSDAY.

At This Writing the Probable Starters Are Aberdale, The Conqueror, Brode and Other Good Youngsters.

The entries go in the box on Wednesday night for the Missouri Stake, the feature of Thursday's card.

It is a race for 2-year-olds at six furlongs, and the probable starters at this writing are Chickamauga, Southern Girl, El Derim, Thrive, Rodregett, Alice Turner, Aberdale, F. W. Brode, Hachmeister and The Conqueror.

In the Mound City Stake for 3-year-olds and upwards, at one and one-eighth miles, to be run on Saturday, the probable starters are Fervor, Andes, Forbush, Marplot, Absidian, Sir Gatian, Crocket, Air Blast, Dr. Sheppard, Hindoo's Dream, Sir Rolla, Annie Oldfield, Lee Bruno, Found, Meadowthorpe and Shanken.

Conley, the only black boy now riding at the Fair Grounds, cut quite a pigeon wing there on Tuesday. He rode the first three winners, in each race coming away in the stretch and winning prettily.

His mounts were Morris Volmer, Dutch Bard and Imp. Mint Sauce.

As good as 4 to 1 was offered against Volmer, and he beat the favorite, Dinoinis, home by a good length and a half.

The free handicap was a very pretty race. Lady Callahan looked a sure winner till 50 yards from home, when Burns came out of the clouds with Meadowthorpe, and just nosed the Lady out at the post.

McIntyre's masterly ride at the finish, on Alice Turner, was responsible for that mare winning the fifth race.

Miss Bramble, getting off in front in the sixth, "made every post a winning one."

The "Knights of the Saddle" have sent out invitations to their second grand entertainment and hop, to be held at the House of Public Comfort, Fair Grounds, on Friday evening of this week. Admission is by invitation only. The officers in charge of the entertainment are: C. R. Ellison, President; John Millin, Vice-President; C. A. Thorpe, Treasurer; Joseph Piggott, Secretary; John Mayberry, Assistant Secretary, and T. Burns, H. Shields, John F. Schorr, E. Jones, C. J. McIntyre, E. McJoynt, E. Slaughter, F. Garner, W. Frost, E. Southard, J. McDonald, committee in charge of all arrangements.

"The Mysterious Wand."—July 3.

CORBETT ON DECK AGAIN.

He Says He Is Going to Challenge the Winner of Sharkey-Jeffries Mill.

NEW YORK, June 28.—"I started in training the other day at Asbury Park," Jim Corbett said the other night. "What for? Why, to get into condition for a fight. I want to fight the winner of the Jeffries-Sharkey fight, and if the winner will give me a fight I will take him on.

"I want to be the champion again, and I think I have it in me to get into condition. I do not intend to challenge Jeffries or Sharkey at least till I am assured I will get a fight. What I want is a fight—not advertising or talk.

"If Jeffries whips Sharkey, or vice versa, the public then will look around for somebody to fight the winner. The thing, then, will be to find somebody to fight him. What available man will there be but Jim Corbett? I don't know of any, and I don't believe anybody else does. If my money is up to fight the winner and he does not fight me, the public will know what to think.

"I know Jeffries and Sharkey pretty well, and think by a careful system of training and building up my strength, together with my cleverness, I can whip the winner. Anyway, I am willing to try. I have been taking care of myself for several months, getting plenty of rest at my doctor's orders—just feeling good and building up. That's what I want to do, put on weight. I weigh about 195 now, and won't take off much in training.

"I intend to put in about eight months training at Asbury Park, building myself slowly and getting in condition, and then I want another try at the championship."

THE SHAMROCK'S CONSTRUCTION.

It Is Said to Be Three Parts of Aluminum and One Part of Nickel.

LONDON, June 28.—It is said in authorative circles that the alloy of which the Shamrock is constructed above the water line is composed of three parts aluminum and one part nickel.

Her deck is also said to be constructed of sheets of the same metal, three-sixteenths of an inch thick, thus effecting a saving of about two-tenths in the weight of the deck alone, and stiffening the yacht's hull more effectively than could be accomplished with wood.

It is considered that yesterday's accident proved the strength of the metal, for while the force of the impact was enough to swing the yacht around about four points, the only damage done to her by the vessel which collided with the Shamrock was a dent about half an inch deep, with no sign of cracking on the surface of the metal.

The Racing at Newmarket.

LONDON, June 28.—At the second day's racing at Newmarket to-day, the Duke of Devonshire's 3-year-old bay filly Vara won the Soaham Plate, 200 sovereigns. Lord William Reresford's Meta II, ridden by Tod Sloan, was unplaced. Seventeen horses ran the last five furlongs of the Bunbury mile. The betting was 10 to against Meta II.

KID M'COY IS ANGRY.

HE DOES NOT LIKE THE WAY JEFFRIES HAS IGNORED HIM.

WILL CHALLENGE CHAMPION.

In Meeting Jeffries He Says He Will Insist on a Strict Adherence to Marquis of Queensbury Rules.

Kid McCoy is very sore because Jim Jeffries, the new champion of the world, has refused to pay any attention to his challenge.

In fact, McCoy appears so annoyed at the slight put upon him that he is out with a card, the contents of which are given below:

Denver, Colo., June 24.—The existing situation necessitates that I make an explanation over my own name, as to just what standing I have among the heavyweight pugilists of the world.

More than ever am I persuaded that I am at least the peer of any pugilist living. I have taken the measure of Tom Sharkey; I have insisted publicly for over a year that I could beat Bob Fitzsimmons, and having witnessed the battle between Jeffries and Fitzsimmons, I am grieved that I was not in either one of their places that night.

It is not my desire to detract from the credit due the new champion, but expressions emanating from him relative to my challenge, issued before the fight, have placed me on the defensive.

It ill becomes a man like Jeffries, who is a newcomer in the pugilistic world, to belittle my challenge, backed by $1000 of my own money, with slurring remarks, intimating that I was only bluffing.

I have been in the boxing business from early youth, and there is nothing in my record that will show that I have not been ready to meet any and all comers, after I had once said I would fight. My career has been gradual, and there is not a middleweight of any pretension whom I have not beaten decisively, unless it is Bob Fitzsimmons. It is but a little over a year ago that I entered the heavyweight class, and I have beaten Gus Ruhlin, Joe Goddard and Joe Choynski. My other contest was with Tom Sharkey.

In the same length of time, beginning from May 20, 1898, the date of my first heavyweight battle, Jim Jeffries has fought twice. He essayed to beat Bob Armstrong and Steve O'Donnell, each in ten rounds. He managed to secure a decision over Armstrong, a fourth-class man, in 10 rounds, but was unable to go on with his bout with Steve O'Donnell. His next effort was with Bob Fitzsimmons.

It is not my intention to decry Jeffries' much-lauded ability. He is justified in reaping all the benefit he can by the chance presented through lucky opportunity. It is admitted by those who saw Fitz in his fight with Jeffries, as well as many of his previous battles, that the former champion, almost throughout his last contest, displayed form that would not have been creditable to a first-class amateur boxer. Whether it was owing to over-confidence or retrogression I am not prepared to assert. Perhaps it was a little of both.

My purpose in giving this letter to the public is to state why I believe that I would have an excellent chance against Jeffries. I laugh at the claim that he is too big for me, as I like them that way, for they are hard to miss.

In the first place a man of Jeffries' build and avoirdupois cannot execute his science as quickly as a man of my weight and build. I am too speedy for him, and can take two steps while he is taking one, and my first step would bring me into position to deliver a blow before he could regain his balance. He could not gather himself as quickly and is entirely too slow for a man of my rapidity. To better illustrate, I make the comparison that it would be like a willing, strong truck horse against a thoroughbred racer.

In meeting a man like Jeffries I should insist on a contest under the strict Marquis of Queensbury rules, which prohibit hugging, roughing, clinching and wrestling. They were made to govern scientific and modern boxing contests.

It is my belief that contests under medley rules, as given in many cities now, will tend to injure the sport. Wrestling and go-as-you-please fighting, as now practiced, is a step backward to the old London rules.

I do not claim to be Jeffries' equal in strength or muscular development, but at science or headwork I claim to be his master, and have my money up to support my readiness to demonstrate my ability to defeat him under the Marquis of Queensbury rules, as all championship contests should be decided.

It is not generally known, but it is nevertheless a fact that the last four or five heavyweight contests have been fought under different rules and agreements than those originally entered into.

In some cases it has been owing to the referee, and it is the truth that no two referees interpret the rules alike.

It is my hope and wish that I get the opportunity to fight Jim Jeffries for the world's championship, if he is not beaten before the chance is presented me.

I was first in the field with my money to challenge the winner of the last big fight, and again I am ready with my offer to take the place of either man, should one of them not be ready for the Jeffries-Sharkey fight scheduled for October.

When Jeffries reaches Denver I will pay him my respects and personally make the above offer. I have also written Tom O'Rourke that I will take Jeffries' place against Sharkey if the boiler maker is not ready.

This will enable me to prove that little men are the masters of big men under some circumstances, especially where science and intellect opposes brawn and muscle, with all other things equal.

KID M'COY,
Challenger of the World.

A dispatch from Webb City, Ia., this morning told how Rufus Sharp, St. Louis' colored boxer had defeated Jim Harrigan in ten rounds. The Webb City Club last night after the fight offered to back Sharp against Bobb Douglas of St. Louis for $500 a side.

It is said that Martin Julian and Bob Fitzsimmons will go to Europe in July and remain until October. Fitz may meet Frank Craig, the Coffee Cooler, in a limited round bout before the National Sporting Club of London, England.

Harry Harris and Sig Hart, the Chicago bantoms, will fight 15 rounds before the Tri-City Athletic Club of Davenport, Io., next Monday night.

Bob Armstrong and Yank Kenny will meet in a 25-round contest before the Coney Island Athletic Club on July 17.

M'COY IN TRAINING.

He Is Now Getting in Shape for His Meeting With Fitz.

DENVER, Colo., June 28.—B. H. Benton, representing Kid McCoy, has gone to New York to complete arrangements for the coming fight between McCoy and Fitzsimmons. McCoy has canceled all his engagements for sparring exhibitions, and will leave for Bailey's Station on the South Park line, in Platte Canyon, where he will spend some time fishing and mountain climbing, before going into training.

Post-Dispatch Boys to Play Ball.

The Post-Dispatch Baseball Club will cross bats with the Garrisons, a strong local aggregation, at the Christian Brothers' College grounds next Sunday afternoon. Both teams are evenly matched, and a good game is in prospect.

Questions Answered.

Agent.—Yes, Sharkey and Jeffries have met. They fought 20 rounds at San Francisco and Jeffries was declared the winner.

L. DeG.—Sullivan defeated Ryan at Mississippi City, Miss., Feb. 7, 1882. That was the fight for the world's championship. It lasted nine rounds.

YALE AND HARVARD.

THOSE TWO BOAT CREWS READY FOR THURSDAY'S RACE.

GALES FERRY, Conn., June 28.—The finishing touches have been applied; the hard practice is over; and the six crews which will represent Yale and Harvard on the Thames in the big regatta are practically awaiting the pistol shot which will send them off over the course on Thursday.

The close of the training period finds all of the oarsmen of the two universities in perfect shape, physically, with no indications of over training, except, perhaps, a little fineness, in the condition of two men in the Harvard 'Varsity eight.

The work on the river has been more than ordinarily delightful this year on account of the cordial feeling which has from the first existed between the rival oarsmen. In fact, the utter lack of secrecy, the open and frank methods of practice, and the exchange of courtesies between the Yale and Harvard settlements have done much, according to the coachers and graduates of both universities, toward putting intercollegiate rowing on a new footing.

The contests are awaited with much interest in view of the fact that the managers have conceived, and this year, for the first time, are about to carry out the scheme of a regatta. The events of the meet will be crowded into one day in order to meet the convenience of visiting spectators.

The contests will begin in the forenoon Thursday, and will find a climax in the early evening with the "big" race between the eights of the two universities.

Wind, weather and water permitting, the university fours will row their race at 10:30 a. m., the start being just above the draw bridge. The course will lie up stream for two miles, this race finishing at the two-mile flag, off the navy yard.

Immediately after this race the two freshmen crews will go on for a two mile pull from the navy yard up the river to the 'Varsity eight starting point, opposite Gales Ferry. Late in the afternoon the 'Varsity race will come.

Harvard has the best of the betting for two out of three contests. However, at the last minute changes have been made in the shell of the Yale four, two heavy oarsmen having been succeeded by lighter men, and the boat moves more rapidly. As a result a hot race is looked for.

On form the Harvard freshmen are the superiors of the Yale youngsters, and their shell has splendid speed. With the two big eights the situation is different. Harvard is reported to have made faster time on the river than Yale. On the other hand, Yale eight is markedly the superior thus far as to form. The men pull much more easily, apparently, and have a vast amount of endurance and reserve power. The New Haven crew, moreover, is largely a veteran aggregation, a factor which tells not a little in a race.

The course of the 'Varsity eight race is the old Yale-Harvard course which was abandoned when Cornell became a third crew. It starts on the west river bank, makes straight for the Navy Yard, where, with a turn almost insignificant, it reaches straight down the river to the railroad bridge.

The official arrangements have been satisfactorily completed. Observation trains will be run on either side of the river, affording good views of the races.

Coxsmain—James McLean Walton, '99s, of Monmouth Beach, N. J. He prepared for college at the Callison School, New York. He coxswained the 1900 freshmen in last year's university boat. He is 22 years of age, weighs 115 pounds, and is 5 feet 9 inches in height.

THE CONTINENTALS.

ATHLETES OF THIS ASSOCIATION TRAINING FOR FIELD MEET.

The members of the Continental Athletic Association are still in hard training for their field meet, which takes place on the Christian Brothers' College campus Saturday, July 15.

This first meet will be complimentary, and tickets will be given to members, most of whom are employes in the general offices of the Wabash Railroad on July 5 to distribute among their friends.

At the last meeting of the association 10 applications for membership were received and acted upon favorably. The growth of the Continental has more than realized the hopes of the original 10 members who organized the association about two months ago. The membership is now close to the 100 mark and steadily growing.

Five members of the Continental were entered in several of the running events at the Hibernian picnic last Sunday, and considering the short time they trained they did exceptionally well.

Fred Heckwolf won the 440-yard event, won his heat in the 100-yard trial and finished second in the 100-yard final.

Billy Wolff won his heat in the 100-yard dash and finished well in the final. Bert Elder won his heat in the 100 yards. Ferd Meathery and Bob James, the other Continental contestants, while securing none of the prizes, finished strong in all the events in which they were entered.

The next meeting of the association will be held at the residence of Harry J. Joel, 2756 Bacon street, on July 8.

SCOTTISH CLANS' SPORTS.

Entries Close Thursday Evening, June 29, at 5 O'Clock.

The entries for the Scottish Clans Athletic sports, which will be held at Ramona Park on July 4, will close Thursday night. The entries are well filled and a great day's sport is in prospect for those who attend. The handsome prizes, which will be awarded at the meet, are on exhibition in Jordan's show window on Broadway.

THE MARKETS.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, June 28.

Though there was a fractionally higher opening this morning the strength was not maintained during the early part of the session. September wheat sold at the start ¼c above yesterday's close, but started on the down turn at once. The first drop was ⅛c, but at the beginning of the second half hour the market had slumped badly to 1⅛c below the opening.

Corn was practically unchanged with no trading early.

The weather—Fair to-night and Thursday. Showers occurred in portions of the Mississippi Valley, the Gulf States, the lake region and Minnesota. It is slightly warmer throughout the country except in the Northwest, where the temperature has fallen slightly.

WHEAT.

This morning's market was nervous with signs of weakness early and some strength later in the session. Heavy domestic receipts were again a ruling factor at the opening, and the figures were so large in comparison with last year's that there was nothing to do but set the peg a few notches lower.

Cable advices were at first improved, but later they had their effect. Aside from the reports of receipts and foreign market quotations, there was not much news of any kind.

Liverpool opened ⅝c up and Paris closed steady to 10 centimes higher.

In the local market September opened at 76⅛c, ¼c above yesterday's close. There was a quick decline and the option dropped to 75¾c, then to 75½c and later to 75c on brisk selling of small lots.

The continued strength of foreign markets made itself felt during the second hour and there was a rally to 75⅞c, still ⅜c below the opening price.

July was practically neglected, opening at 74⅝c and remaining close around the opening during the greater part of the session.

Receipts of wheat at primary points to-day were 985,000 bu, as compared with 82,000 bu same date last year. Shipments, 421,000 bu, compared with 128,000 bu same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth to-day were 481 bu, compared with 30 bu same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at St. Louis to-day were 15,512 bu, compared with 5600 bu same date last year. Of these 983 sacks and 15 cars were local, compared with 8 cars same date last year.

CORN.

This market was again dull, with no sales up to noon. September was held at 33⅝c, and later at 33½@33⅝c. July was offered at 33⅝c.

Receipts of corn at primary points to-day were 1,097,000 bu, as compared with 412,000 bu same date last year. Shipments, 582,000 bu, compared with 482,000 bu same date last year.

Receipts of corn at St. Louis to-day were 43,500 bu, compared with 20,795 bu same date last year. Of these 37 cars were local, compared with 518 sacks and 19 cars same date last year.

OATS.

There was no speculative demand for this grain. Late in the session there was a bid of 21⅝c for September, and July was offered at 26c.

Receipts of oats at St. Louis to-day were 14,400 bu, compared with 14,600 bu same date last year. Of these 11 cars were local, compared with 40 sacks and 12 cars same date last year.

MARKETS BY TELEGAPH.

CHICAGO, June 28.—Wheat opened to-day with the advantage on the side of the bulls. Liverpool and Continental markets responded readily to yesterday's advance here, Liverpool especially showing strength. There was altogether too much rain in the wheat country for the good of harvesting operations or for the growing grain, and with these elements of strength to back them bulls forced prices up at the opening, September starting at 74½@74⅝c, against yesterday's closing price of 74⅜c. Under moderate buying by shorts a slight further advance was recorded, September selling to 74⅝@74¾c. Northwest receipts showed considerable falling off, Minneapolis and Duluth reporting 491 cars, against 713 last week and 32 a year ago. Chicago receipts were 152 cars, 21 of contract grade. Eastern points reported continental acceptances of wheat at 1s per quarter higher than previous sales. Moderate realizing on the bulge carried prices back to 74¼c, but the market quickly rallied to 74½@74⅝c.

Weekly crop bulletins generally reported the winter wheat of good quality and the yield in some instances better than expected. Trading was narrow, and it will probably remain so until after the Fourth.

Corn was dull and a little easier. Receipts continued heavy, and the weekly crop reports were altogether favorable. Elevator people were prominent sellers. Receipts were 810 cars. September opened unchanged at 34½@34⅝c, and eased off to 34⅜c.

Oats were quiet but firm offerings were light, and there was some demand from shorts. Receipts were 248 cars. September opened a shade higher at 21⅞c and advanced to 21¾c.

Provisions were dull and firm, following the higher hog market. Commission houses were fair buyers. Packers sold moderately. September pork opened 7½c higher at $8.45 and eased off to $8.40@8.42½. September lard opened 2½c higher at $5.20 and advanced to $5.22½. September ribs opened 2½c higher at $4.90 and advanced to $4.92½.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The market opened with a lively show of animation and strength. Very heavy blocks of a number of railroads were taken on running sales, the scale of prices ranging down slightly from the opening.

New York Central, St. Paul, Southern preferred and Atchison preferred showed gains of ⅜ to ½. Manhattan was up 1½. The specialties generally were not conspicuous.

The enthusiasm of the bulls increased and there was a steady absorption of the leading railroad stocks, which carried them higher than for weeks. The strength of the grangers and the Southern groups exercised a sustaining effect on the general list. Some stocks, which usually are quiet, were brushed into activity and strength, notably Texas & Pacific, Norfolk & Western, Louisville, Illinois and some of the low priced specialties.

Sales of stocks to noon 294,514 shares.

Higher prices prevailed for the leading bonds.

First prices were higher for the general run of active shares, but there were some exceptions, notably American Tobacco, which sold up 2. Decided gains were also made in Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville, New Haven, Chicago Great Western debentures, St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred, and St. Paul & Omaha preferred. The latter jumped 10 points, to 180.

NO MONEY IN GRAIN ELEVATORS

Consolidated Companies Cannot Pay Interest on Bonds.

The St. Louis Consolidated Elevator Co., which owns and operates six elevators in St. Louis and East St. Louis, is having trouble over the interest of its bonded indebtedness, which becomes due July 1.

The Board of Directors of the company has announced that it cannot raise the money with which to pay the interest, and that it will probably be necessary to turn the property over to Julius Walsh, trustee for the bondholders, to be sold under the deed of trust. A meeting of the directors and stockholders has been called for Wednesday evening to decide upon some definite plan. One of the directors says the company's elevators have not made running expenses this year from their grain trade, although they have managed to keep together by doing some outside business.

The company was organized in December, 1896, with a capital stock of $1,000,000. The bonded indebtedness against it is $950,000. Henry S. Potter is president; David Block, vice-president, and Charles A. Cunningham, secretary. The directors are Henry C. Potter, David Block, Peyton Carr, Breckenridge Jones, Henry F. Langenberg, W. C. Little and Frank Shapleigh.

FOR MURDER IN FIRST DEGREE.

Warrant Issued Wednesday for the Arrest of Fred Weber.

Acting Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Fensky Wednesday morning issued a warrant charging Fred Wilbur with murder in the first degree.

Wilbur struck William Kraft in the forehead with a stone at Goodfellow and Easton avenues June 12. Kraft died a few days later in the City Hospital.

American Tobacco Co. Dividend.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The American Tobacco Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent on its preferred stock, and 1½ per cent on its common stock.

whose members shall be selected by the Health Commissioner from the faculties of medical colleges. The members of this board shall have charge of the various clinics. The third ordinance provides for the employment of a bacteriologist in the hospital, and the fourth provides the method of employing nurses.

Thus it will be seen that plans prepared and approved two years ago are reapproved and the city is to start out on this venture on a capital of $203,000, that being the amount saved in two years out of the entire revenue of the municipality in that time. The remainder has gone to inspectors who did not inspect and contractors who kept or broke their contracts as their political pulls would permit.

The convent which is now being used as a hospital was never intended for that purpose. It was old and dilapidated and had been found untenantable by the Sisters of the Good Shepherd. At best it was merely a makeshift. It was the best place that could be found for that purpose in the emergency created by the tornado, but it was good for temporary use only.

It was a fire-trap. The walls, of wood and ancient construction, caught and held disease germs. It was not properly lighted or ventilated to be used as a hospital. If a fire had broken out half the patients would have perished. Last summer Dr. Otto Sutter resigned the superintendency, but was induced to remain by the Mayor. Dr. Sutter stated six months later that he agreed to stay under the express agreement that he should devote at least six hours of each day to his private practice. The Mayor agreed to this because it did not suit his political ends to appoint another superintendent at that time.

Conditions at the hospital became so frightful last fall that a missionary assigned to that field preached a sermon, in which he exposed the neglect and ill-treatment and bad sanitary conditions in the institution. Joseph Franklin, manager of Barr's, doubted the correctness of the minister's statements and appealed to all the newspapers in the city to ascertain the truth.

The Post-Dispatch alone responded in a practical way. A reporter was entered as a patient in the guise of a tramp, and remained 36 hours. The experience of that time sickened him, and he was in a worse condition when he came out than when he went in. He proved every charge made by the minister to be true.

His written statement of his experience caused consternation in the ranks of the City Hall gang. He showed that patients upon being received were bathed in a filthy tub; that there were not enough beds; that the wards were badly ventilated; that the air was noisome and poisoned; that the food was insufficient and of poor quality; that the medical attendance was irregular, indifferent and in some cases positively brutal; that the nursing force was inadequate, and that the care and management of patients was left largely to convalescent patients, who were brutal, careless and ignorant.

Dr. Sutter denied some of the charges, but finally declared that he was not responsible, as he had tried to resign and had remained at the earnest solicitation of the Mayor, upon condition that he be allowed to conduct a private practice. He said he had been away from the hospital six and eight hours daily, and could not be held responsible for the condition of the institution for that reason.

His statements were not denied by Mayor Ziegenhein, and in a few days Dr. Sutter resigned.

During these two years, when conditions like this were permitted to continue in the City Hospital, on the excuse that the city was too poor to build a new hospital, hundreds of thousands of dollars were being spent in paying salaries of lazy, political henchmen who did nothing to justify their employment. The Wittenberg bill was passed increasing the pay roll of the Street Department enormously; salaries were being paid to the straw men, as witness the case of F. Mueller; money was being paid to sprinkling contractors who shirked their contracts with impunity, and salaries were being paid to sprinkling inspectors who never inspected.

Startling proof this was given by the Post-Dispatch Tuesday in the publication of the reports of police officers showing that during three days over 1000 streets were not sprinkled at all.

NEW SCHOOL METHODS

NOTABLE YEAR IN THE HISTORY OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

SUPT. SOLDAN GRATIFIED.

More Rapid Advancement in Education and Increased Facilities for Proper Teaching.

The public school year of 1898-'99, which has just come to a close, is regarded by Supt. Soldan as noteworthy for the uniformity of successes achieved in the educational history of St. Louis.

New methods were adopted in the administration of all the departments, and the results seem to justify the statement that not only will they be persevered in, but that others, along the same lines, will be utilized.

Already preparations are being made for the ensuing year, which will begin in September. A gratifying increase of attendance has been observed, so much so that the Board of Education, through its committee, has made arrangements for the construction of four new schools and 48 additional rooms to the present buildings. The new ones are to be named the Jackson, Monroe, Sherwood and Eliot, and will have 20 rooms each. The following school buildings will be added to: Riddick, six rooms; Fremont, six rooms; Gratiot, four rooms and probably the Mount Pleasant, eight rooms; Dozier, eight rooms; Adams, four rooms; Marquette, four rooms and the Harrison, eight rooms. Thus an increase of 128 rooms to the present number will be had, providing accommodations for over 7000 more pupils.

Besides the new pupils that always present themselves, this increase will have the effect of relieving the present congested condition of many of the schools, doing away with what is called "double time" and rendering unnecessary the renting of rooms in private houses. Owing to the number of pupils resident in the same district, who desire to attend school, it is now necessary to have one portion come in the morning, while another receives instruction in the afternoon. This naturally makes good results difficult to attain and it will be a welcome order, changing the rule.

Superintendent Soldan's only cause for regret was the fact that the colored schools had not made as creditable a showing as the white division. In some districts, particularly, says the superintendent, the attendance had a marked falling off. He attributes this to various causes, among them being the fact that reviving industries afforded many a child an opportunity to earn a little money, which was preferred by the parents to allowing it to complete its education. However, principals and teachers were both engaged in active missionary work, and their efforts were not without effect. In this connection Superintendent Soldan reiterates his advocacy of a compulsory school attendance and the enforcement of the child-labor age law. The compulsory attendance was not to be arbitrary; it was to rest with the discretion and common sense of the board.

"As an educator," said he, "I could not but give such a measure my heartiest support, were it presented for consideration. Of course, there are to this, as to every question, two sides, but I believe that its benefits would far outweigh the slight disadvantages it would impose.

"It is presumed the School Board will act upon this question next fall, it being believed that the majority of them are in favor of it."

There are 1600 teachers on the pay-roll and the small number of discharges for cause is a testimonial to the efficiency and thoroughness of this great number. As an illustration of the discipline that is being maintained, the superintendent cited the fact that out of the 85,000 pupils attending the St. Louis public schools there were but 170 cases of corporal punishments.

"This is directly due to the manner of instruction employed," said Prof. Soldan. "Instead of being purely automatic it is made a matter of interest to the children, and thereby greater exertions are put forth. Lessons are no longer merely so much printed stuff, to be committed to memory. Each day's task reveals new and interesting facts that cause the school work to become less of a bore and more of a pleasure. The teachers and their scholars have come nearer to each other, and thus rendered the work lighter for both. On the whole, there can be nothing but praise spoken for all connected with the schools for the work accomplished. It has been most encouraging to the associate superintendents and myself."

OLD-TIME FIDDLERS' CONTEST.

Dyersburg, Tenn., Will Have a Great Fourth of July Celebration.

July 4 will be a great day at Dyersburg, Tenn. On that day the Old-Time Fiddlers' contest will be held there. It is an original entertainment, the success of which will be largely due to the efforts of W. H. Haywood, editor of the Dyer County Herald. The contest has been advertised all over Tennessee and neighboring States, and a big crowd is expected to be present.

The programme includes a parade, in which all sorts and conditions of men will be in line, and an afternoon and evening session, at which the fiddlers will fiddle for prizes and applause.

Editor Haywood will deliver the opening address at the afternoon meeting and J. M. Brockin, described as an "old-time fiddler," will preside.

DEATH OF MRS. MARY KEARNEY.

Widow of the Famous General, Stephen Watts Kearney.

Mrs. Mary Kearney, aged 88 years, died at her residence, 2837 Lucas avenue, Tuesday afternoon, of old age. The funeral will be held Thursday morning from the residence to Bellefontaine Cemetery. The services will be conducted by Rev. Gustave Tuckerman, rector of St. Joseph's Mission.

Mrs. Kearney was the widow of Gen. Stephen Watts Kearney, a distinguished soldier, who served through the Mexican War and made several campaigns against the Indians. He died 50 years ago and Mrs. Kearney came to St. Louis to live. She was a member of the Radford family of Virginia.

Three children survive her and all were at her bedside when she died. They are Henry S. Kearney of New York, Charles Kearney of St. Joseph, Mo., and Mrs. Western Bascome of this city.

ONE BURGLAR CAUGHT

20 ROBBERIES IN TWO WEEKS AT NINTH AND BIDDLE.

A WOMAN'S PLUCKY FIGHT.

Mrs. Rosen Identified Jerry Peoples as the Man She Found Robbing Her House.

Twenty robberies in two weeks is the record of the neighborhood at Ninth and Biddle streets. The police have caught one thief, and believe that he has committed all the offenses.

Mrs. Michael Rosen of 1128 North Ninth street, Matilda Smith of 918 Biddle street and Patrolman Pat Burk of the Fourth District swore to a warrant Wednesday charging Jerry Peoples, colored, with burglary in the first degree.

The negro was arrested at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning on Mrs. Smith's back porch by the officers. He had entered the house and carried away one bundle of clothing and was making a return call when apprehended.

Tuesday Mrs. Rosen reported to Capt. Kiely that a negro had stolen $50 worth of clothing, bed spreads and dishes from her before daylight Sunday morning.

Mrs. Rosen says she was awakened by the noise of a chair falling heavily to the floor. She saw a negro making for an open window. Without rousing her husband the woman leaped from the bed and grabbed the burglar. She struggled with him until he, gaining an advantage, pushed her violently over the kitchen table. He then rushed for the window.

The plucky woman was not vanquished. She tackled the fellow again and pulled him from the window sill into the room, loudly calling for her husband. Just as Rosen appeared the burglar drew a revolver and fired point blank at the woman. The bullet grazed her nose. She fell back and the man leaped from the window and escaped.

Tuesday afternoon, at the Police Station, Mrs. Rosen identified Peoples as her assailant.

The negro lived alone at 914 Biddle street, but a careful search of his apartments revealed nothing.

For two weeks there have been daily reports of robberies from the vicinity of Ninth and Biddle, but the police were unable to land even a suspect. In all cases the loss was small.

Capt. Kiely is confident that in Peoples he has the man he has been searching for. The man has no police record, and the fact that nothing incriminating was found in his room leads the authorities to believe there is a fence near by, and every energy will be devoted to locating it.

SHOOTING AFFRAY IN A SALOON.

James S. McNamara Fatally Wounded and James Kelleher Hurt.

James S. McNamara of 2128 Division street was shot and probably fatally injured Tuesday afternoon by John Beekman, in the saloon of the latter's father, at 4592 Manchester avenue, as exclusively reported in late editions of the Post-Dispatch yesterday. Beekman was arrested. The shooting occurred during a quarrel, in which old man Beekman and James Kelleher participated. Kelleher was struck in the hand by a bullet and his face was bruised.

PUPILS OF ST. ALPHONSUS.

Pictures, Tableaux and Songs Presented at the Closing Exercises.

Pictures from Tennyson's "Princess" were presented in tableaux and song by pupils of St. Alphonsus' school at the closing services held Tuesday night in the school hall, Grand avenue, near Finney. The pictures were pretty and showed careful training.

The graduates were Misses Susan Lancaster, Josephine Gratiaa, Frances Hogan, Mary Pierce, Elizabeth Byrne, Marie Harkins and Ellen Ansbro, all of whom took part of the exercises. Theer were 26 musical performers, besides Miss D. Yonker, the accompanist. The programme opened with the entrance march and opening hymn by Miss Maggie Powers and Miss K. O'Riordan. This was followed by a vocal duet by Misses Lancaster and Pujol, and the "Air de Ballet" for three pianos, rendered by Misses M. Powers, G. Moran, B. Koster, A. O'Brien, K. O'Riordan and E. Jenkins. The valedictory address was made by Miss Susan Lancaster.

"Bread Without Flour."

Thousands of families have no other bread in the house. They use the Shredded Wheat Biscuit as a cereal for breakfast. Split them in halves and heat through or toast in oven and serve at dinner and supper in place of sliced loaf bread, and there is no better bread in the world. Then why mix up dough and bake or eat poor food?

RETURNED TO THE URSULINE.

Carrie McKittrick's Parents Have Reached an Agreement.

In the abduction case of Carrie McKittrick, the child for whom the police have been searching at the request of the father, has been settled by a compromise which is really a victory for the mother. By the terms of the agreement the child is to be placed in the Ursuline Convent, Twelfth and Russell avenue, for a period of five years. The father is to bear the expense and the mother is to be allowed to visit her once a week. At the end of five years the child is to go to her father at Kansas City.

This agreement was drawn up in writing and signed by both parties. The mother then restored the child to the father for a brief time, after which the little one was taken to the convent. Mr. McKittrick returned to Kansas City Tuesday night.

HE'S VOGELS FRIEND.

SUPPOSED REASON WHY ANDREW BROOME WAS ASSAULTED.

ATTACKED WHILE GOING HOME.

Three Men Beat a Well-Known Politician Who Doesn't Like "Kid" Sheridan.

Andrew F. Browne, attorney and politician, whom everybody calls "Andy," was attacked and severely beaten in front of the Fullerton Building, on Seventh street, between Pine and Chestnut, about 9 o'clock Tuesday evening.

It is alleged that the assault was committed by "Sheridan's Heelers," thugs who have sworn a feud against William Vogel, the man whose seat in the House of Delegates was awarded to Sheridan.

Brown is Vogel's staunchest supporter. Sheridan and he had a quarrel on the floor of the House at a recent session of that body, and Sheridan threw an inkstand at him. For this assault a warrant was issued against Sheridan Tuesday after it had been once refused.

Browne was en route home from Vogel's saloon, at Seventh and Chestnut streets, when he was attacked Tuesday. He followed the direction usually taken by him when going home from Vogel's, and started north on Seventh street. At the mouth of the gangway between the Fullerton Building and the structure to the south three men sprang out of the shadow of the tall office building and fell upon Browne, beating him fiercely with their firsts.

Brown made such defense as he could with his hands, but dozens of blows fell on his face and head, and he was punched into a dazed condition. Then his assailants ran away. The assault and the flight of the assailants were witnessed by men standing in front of Vogel's saloon. No attempt was made to rob Browne.

ONE SHOT HIT TWO PERSONS.

Blanche Burton and Dan Barebley Each Receive a Wound in the Arm From the Same Pistol.

Blanche Burton of 1542 Pine street and Dan Barebley, living at 1211 Wash street, were each shot in the arm by the accidental discharge of a revolver in the hands of a colored woman Monday night at Sixteenth and Pine streets. They are now in the City Hospital.

CABANNE CLUB'S OUTING.

The New Organization Gave Its First Entertainment.

The Cabanne Club, that organization in swelldom, born but a few weeks since, made its debut in entertaining Tuesday night. The club, which numbers 365 members, invited between 1200 and 1500 guests to the performance at the Suburban Garden. A great company accepted the invitations. The garden was decorated with the colors of the club, crimson and white.

It is the intention of the club to erect a club house in the Cabanne district at a cost of $35,000. The officers are: Frank Wyman, President; Charles L. Swarts, Vice President; A. H. Schureman, Secretary; J. A. Lewis, Treasurer; L. S. Metcalfe, Jr., Chairman of the Executive Committee. These gentlemen, with R. W. Maguire, T. C. Link, E. A. de Wolfe, T. S. Maxwell, Joseph Barker, F. E. Richey, Frank Battle, Percy Werner and W. S. Swingley, compose the Board of Directors.

OWNER OF THE MONKS' MOUND.

Remains of Hon. T. J. Ramey Buried at Collinsville, Ill.

The remains of Hon. T. J. Ramey, who died Sunday, were buried at Collinsville, Ill., Wednesday morning.

He was the owner of Monks' Mound and for several years conducted excavations there as the agent of several scientific societies. His place was a mecca for students of Indian character. He wrote the story of his investigations and it will be published soon. It is said his manuscripts prove that the Mound Builders were a race of many intellectual attainments.

He refused $100,000 last year for Monks' Mound, saying he wanted to have it thoroughly explored before it passed from his possession. A clause of his will provides that every foot of earth must be turned before it can be sold.

HE WON'T SAY HOW HE GOT IT.

Suspected That Turner's Rib Was Broken in a Prize Fight.

William J. Turner is at the City Hospital with a fractured rib, which, it is said, he received in a prize fight in a South St. Louis saloon.

Turner refuses to say how he received the injury.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething cures wind colic, diarrhoea, etc.

HE'S A NICE WEATHER-MAKER.

Mr. Spencer, Dr. Hyatt's Understudy, Is Doing the Right Thing.

Dr. Hyatt left the local weather in good hands when he slipped away from town last Sunday for a month's vacation.

E. E. Spencer, acting forecast official announces clear skies and stationary temperature for Wednesday night and Thursday.

Mr. Spencer is not burdened with avoirdupois as is the beloved Dr. Hyatt, hence there can be no motive of selfishness charged against him in keeping the atmosphere moderately cool. He is doing it out of pure goodness of heart.

Muscular pains and all skin irritations yield to the soothing properties of Greve's Ointment.

Parker's Hair Balsam aids the hair growth.

Botanical Garden Report.

The tenth annual report of the trustees of the Missouri Botanical Garden has appeared, handsomely printed, bound and illustrated. It contains a preface by Prof. William Trelease, director, with his report; scientific papers, giving notes on the grasses in the Bernhardi Herbarium, collected by Thaddeus Henke and described by J. S. Preal, and a biographical sketch of Dr. Edward Lewis Sturtevant, whose picture [illegible] front page, and who gave his [illegible] to the garden.

COOK AVENUE EPWORTH.

Officers Elected and an Encouraging Report Made.

The Epworth League of Cook Avenue M. E. Church South has just elected officers for the ensuing year, as follows: George W. Hughes, President; Miss Bertha Childs, First Vice-President; Miss Maude Bennett, Second Vice-President; Miss Mame Walker, Third Vice-President; Miss Grace Avery, Secretary; John C. Vaughan, Treasurer.

The report of the retiring President, Alexander H. Robbins, showed the best year's work in the history of the league in many respects. During the year 43 new names have been added to the roll of membership, giving the League a total membership of 130. The greatest success, however, was attained in the development of department, which now has th of being the best in the State. ing circles have been organiz pha," "The Crescent" and thorne," which meet every mo some great character in histor to the reading of short extrac aphrases of the masterpieces o The Junior League also has flou ing grown from a membership membership of about 52 during
